there is no life without emotion our emotions are as real as anything about us this is a truth to which each of us can testify from our own lives is anything more real than fear hope joy anger despair love but what are they they affect us but how do they do this what are they for emotions are not objects we can t put anger on a slide and examine it under a microscope we are unable to grow a culture of joy in a petri dish of chicken broth we cannot determine the chemical formula of despair we can t measure the protein content of jealousy or isolate the dna of love but we can learn about the nature function and performance of emotions what they are and what they are not and how we as individual human beings can exert some measure of influence over our own emotion experiences life is all about emotions positive versus negative human versus non human false versus real here you will learn about yourself and what makes you tick an emotional journey you ll soon discover is worth the taking about the author david scruton is a professor emeritus of anthropology who taught for thirty five years he has been engaged in academic writing for the past fifty years and is the author of sociophobics the anthropology of fear scruton who makes his home in golden colorado is currently engaged in a work of fiction which he describes as a romantic thriller publisher s website strategicpublishinggroup.com title feelings ananthropologistlooksathumanemotions.htm in this sophisticated overview of human emotions a widely respected psychologist and author addresses the ambiguities and embraces the controversies that surround this intriguing subject an insightful and lucid thinker jerome kagan examines what exactly we do know about emotions which popular assumptions about emotions are incorrect and how scientific study must proceed if we are to uncover the answers to persistent and evasive questions about emotions integrating the findings of anthropological psychological and biological studies in his wide ranging discussion kagan explores the evidence for great variation in the frequency and intensity of emotion among different cultures he also discusses variations among individuals within the same culture and the influences of gender class ethnicity and temperament on a person s emotional patina in his closing chapter the author proposes that three sources of evidence verbal descriptions of feelings behaviours and measures of brain states provide legitimate but different definitions of emotion translating data from one of these sources to another may not be possible kagan warns and those who study emotions must accept at least for now that their understanding is limited to and by the domain of their information an informal yet rigorous exploration of human emotions in all their complexity and subtlety why do we cry at the movies what is the best way to manage destructive feelings such as jealousy although emotions pervade our lives their nature causes and effects have only recently been studied by social scientists and philosophers despite growing scientific interest in the subject empirical findings have not yet caught up with our intuitive knowledge in this book aaron ben ze ev carries out what he calls a careful search for general patterns in the primeval jungle of emotions in an engaging informal style he draws on a variety of theoretical approaches and popular sources to produce a coherent account of emotions in all their subtlety all of the ideas are illustrated with examples drawn from everyday life the book is organized into two parts the first presents an overall conceptual framework for understanding emotions it looks at the typical characteristics and components of emotions distinguishes emotions from other affective phenomena classifies the emotions and covers such related issues as emotional intelligence regulating emotions and emotions and morality the second part discusses individual emotions including envy jealousy pleasure in others misfortune pity compassion anger hate disgust love sexual desire happiness sadness pride regret and shame the text is laced with insightful and often amusing quotations from sources ranging from mae west to montesquieu
