these new etudes and solos composed in a modern style bridge a gap in the horn etude literature and function as a concise modern version of the classic schantl pottag book of preparatory melodies the 26 short etudes focus primarily on technical issues but the goals overall are accuracy and preparing students for performance of more difficult 20th century etudes and works of a similar character which present a variety of challenges the book concludes with a set of four new works that review the melodic materials of the etudes formatted as solo horn works suitable for jury or studio class performance brass method these studies a series of short etudes designed to improve technique and musicianship are intended to supplement or follow any elementary method

16 etudes 4 duets for french horn different styles from classic to contemporary southern music brass these etudes were composed by henri adrien louis kling to assist in the mastery of french horn playing noted horn player teacher and designer lorenzo sansone has assembled this collection to help the developing french horn player student progress these 35 melodic etudes have been rescued from the method books of two important 19th century horn teachers Joseph Meifred 1791 1867 and Josef Schantl 1842 1902. These short intermediate level etudes are available in an updated second edition in kindle and print versions at three different pitch levels. In the standard French horn version the etudes are presented as originally published in order by key and with only light editing. The high French horn version increases the difficulty level by transposing these etudes to higher keys targeting the highest notes of the horn. The low French horn version transposes these etudes to lower keys targeting the lowest notes of the low horn.
