excerpt from english composition and style a handbook for college students a general discussion which among other things speaks of the purpose and the method of this book will be found in the accompanying introduction since this is intended chiefly for teachers it is separate from the rest of the book the latter is for the student working preferably under direction and it contains accounts of the theory of writing and exercises for practice the more important parts are chapters v vii of part i chapters ii iv of part ii and chapters ii v of part iii largely because they give more opportunity for practice but they cannot wholly be understood without the other chapters several citations notably those on pages ii6 139 i have introduced without the usual form of reference deeming it best for students to come to some opinion without knowing the authorship my indebtedness to the many writers of rhetorics from the days of aristotle to our own immediate year is manifest many of these are specifically mentioned in foot notes but i should also like especially to name as books that have been most useful to me the late adams sherman hill s the principles of rhetoric professor barrett wendell s english com position the late hammond lamont s english composition professor george p baker s the principles of argumentation and professor ashley h thomdike s the elements of rhetoric and composition about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
