A historian debunks four dozen PC myths about our nation's past over the last forty years. History textbooks have become more and more politically correct and distorted about our country's past, argues Professor Larry Schweikart. The result, he says, is that students graduate from high school and even college with twisted beliefs about economics, foreign policy, war, religion, race relations, and many other subjects. As he did in his popular A Patriot's History of the United States, Professor Schweikart corrects liberal bias by rediscovering facts that were once widely known. He challenges distorted books by name and debunks forty-eight common myths. A sample: The founders wanted to create a wall of separation between church and state; Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation only because he needed black soldiers; Truman ordered the bombing of Hiroshima to intimidate the Soviets with atomic diplomacy; Mikhail Gorbachev, not Ronald Reagan, was responsible for ending the Cold War. America's past, though not perfect, is far more admirable than you were probably taught.

Why we learn the wrong things from narrative history and how our love for stories is hard-wired to understand something you need to know. Its history right, wrong, says Alex Rosenberg in How History Gets Things Wrong. Feeling especially well informed after reading a book of popular history on the best-seller list, don't narrative history is always, always wrong. It's not just incomplete or inaccurate but deeply wrong as wrong as Ptolemaic astronomy. We no longer believe that the Earth is the center of the universe. Why do we still believe in historical narrative? Our attachment to history as a vehicle for understanding has a long Darwinian pedigree and a genetic basis. Our love of stories is hard-wired. Neuroscience reveals that human evolution shaped a tool useful for survival into a defective theory of human nature. Stories historians tell, Rosenberg continues, are not only wrong but harmful. Israel and Palestine, for example, have dueling narratives of dispossession that prevent one side from compromising with the other. Henry Kissinger applied lessons drawn from the Congress of Vienna to American foreign policy with disastrous results. Human evolution improved primate mind reading, the ability to anticipate the behavior of others whether predators prey or cooperators to get us to the top of the african food chain now however this hard wired capacity makes us think we can understand history what the kaiser was thinking in 1914 why hitler declared war on the united states by uncovering the narratives of what happened and why in fact rosenberg argues we will only understand history if we don t make it into a story a book students love in a more concise format america has sold more than 1 8 million copies over the past eight editions because it s a book that students enjoy reading effective storytelling colorful anecdotes and biographical sketches make the narrative absorbing and the material more memorable the brief ninth edition is 20 shorter and includes refreshed and updated coverage of african american history and has been streamlined from 37 to 34 chapters
