the sacred heart is as simeon prophesied of jesus himself signum cui contradicetur like the title of his blessed mother who is in very truth mother of god it has drawn to itself all the assaults of heresy for it is a divine test of faith in the mystery of the word made flesh ut revelentur ex multis cordibus cogitationes those who have trusted with a yearning hope that the faith of englishmen in the incarnation at least was firm and clear were saddened and silenced when the pilgrimage to paray le monial elicited from some of the highest sources of the established religion a profession of simple nestorianism it was then that the first fifty pages in this book were published having been out of print for some time they are now reprinted as the doctrinal foundation of all that follows the devotion of the sacred heart has two aspects the one as the centre of all dogma the other as the source of the deepest devotion in this latter aspect it reveals to us the personal love of our divine redeemer towards each and every one for whom he died it is a manifestation of his pity tenderness compassion and mercy to sinners and to penitents nevertheless its chief characteristic and its dominant note is his disappointment at the returns we make to him for his love and above all his divine displeasure at the faults and sins of those who are specially consecrated at his service he seems to be sadly upbraiding us with the three doubting questions which he put to peter lovest thou me and to be looking upon us as he turned and looked on him when he had thrice denied his master into this part of the devotion of the sacred heart i have not ventured it has already been treated so profusely by others and by many of whom i have only to learn it is in itself so deep and intimately related to the personal life and mind of each that i have always felt it better to use but few suggestive words rather than to draw out devotional acts which to the writer are no doubt spontaneous natural and real but to the reader may be a burden like saul s armour to david in the following pages therefore i have intentionally confined myself to the dogmatic side of the devotion and for the following reasons i believe firmly that when divine truth is fully and duly apprehended it generates devotion that one cause of shallowness in the spiritual life is a superficial apprehension of the dogma of the incarnation and that one divine purpose in the institution and diffusion of the devotion of the sacred heart in these last times is to reawaken in the minds of men the consciousness of their personal relation to a divine master he has foretold the dimness and coldness of these latter days the son of man when he cometh shall he find think you faith on the earth s luke xviii 8 because iniquity hath abounded the charity of many shall grow cold s matt xxiv 12 in that day the disciples of the sacred heart at least will know whom they have believed this book is neither a deriding of the worldly profane nor a splitting up of reality into a supposedly unholy realm over against one which alone is consecrated to god but something which threatens to be forgotten to disappear from the memory of man is fixed upon here namely that in this world which is given us as our life s environment not only does the striving to take care of our daily needs possess an obvious right as well the marketplace the economy scholarly research etc but in their very midst there is something in the fullest sense beyond our daily concerns god s tent among men the sanctuary where set off from the round of daily work the bodily presence of the eternal logos become man is honored and celebrated the mass is an extraordinary musical form whereas other western art music genres from medieval times have fallen out of favour the mass has not merely survived but flourished a variety of historical forces within religious secular and musical arenas saw the mass expand well beyond its origins as a cycle of medieval chants become concertised and ultimately bifurcate even as western societies moved away from their christian origins to become the religiously plural and politically secular societies of today and the church itself moved in favour of congregational singing composers continued to compose masses by the early twentieth century two forms of mass existed the liturgical mass composed for church services and the concert mass composed for secular venues spanning two millennia the origins and ascendancy of the concert mass outlines the origins and meanings of the liturgical texts defines the concert mass explains how and why the split occurred and provides examples that demonstrate composers gradual appropriation of the genre as a vehicle for personal expression on serious issues by the end of the twentieth century the concert mass had become a repository for an eclectic range of theological and political ideas over 600 years before the revelations of divine mercy to st faustina and over 300 years before the revelations of the sacred heart to st margaret mary alacoque there were the revelations of the sacred heart to st mechtilde 1241 1298 a benedictine nun and friend of st gertrude the great lovers of the devotion to the sacred heart of jesus will find many similarities between these and the other apparition where god has shared the mystery of the sacred heart with mankind though there is no evidence that she was familiar with st mechtilde s writings most importantly our lord speaks on topime of great importance in the practice of the devout life the divine office frequent confession and communion and so forth these divine revelations also greatly influenced the poet dante when he wrote his divine comedy attainment is the goal of the spiritual path it is not the power to perform miracles or to control others but the ability to give and receive energy in harmony this volume explains important keys to attainment including how to connect with the masters and how to chart cycles of positive and negative karma disenchantment is a key term in the self understanding of modernity but what exactly do we mean when we use this concept what was its original meaning when max weber introduced it and can the conventional meaning or max weber s view really be defended given the present state of knowledge about the history of religion this book is an attempt to divest this concept of its enduring enchantment the first chapters of the book deal with the three empirical disciplines history psychology and sociology of religion to develop an understanding of religion that then lays the groundwork for what is presented in chapter 4 namely the most thorough study of weber s views on disenchantment that has ever been undertaken it turns out that weber s use was highly ambiguous and that his grand narrative leading from the prophets of ancient judaism to the crisis of meaning on the eve of the first world war collapses when we recognize this ambiguity this makes it possible to construct an alternative that takes into account the dynamics of ever new sacralizations their normative evaluation in the light of the values of a universalist morality and the dangers of the misuse of religion in connection with the formation of power this book constitutes a challenge for believers and non believers alike

a vibrant critical exchange between contemporary art and christianity is being increasingly prompted by an expanding programme of art installations and commissions for ecclesiastical spaces rather than religious art reflecting christian ideology current practices frequently initiate projects that question the values and traditions of the host space or present objects and events that challenge its visual conventions in the light of these developments this book asks what conditions are favourable to enhancing and expanding the possibilities of church based art and how can these conditions be addressed what viable language or strategies can be formulated to understand and analyse art s role within the church focusing on concepts drawn from anthropology comparative religion art theory theology and philosophy this book formulates a lexicon of terms built around the notion of encounter in order to review the effective uses and experience of contemporary art in churches the author concludes with the prognosis that art for the church has reached a critical and decisive phase in its history testing the assumption that contemporary art should be a taken for granted element of modern church life art and the church a fractious embrace uniquely combines conceptual analysis critical case studies and practical application in a rigorous and inventive manner dealing specifically with contemporary art of the past twenty five years and the most recent developments in the church s policies for the arts
