politically islam in indonesia is part of a rich multi cultural mix religious tolerance is seen as the cornerstone of relations between different faiths and moderation is built into the country s constitutional framework however the advent of democracy coupled with the impact of the south east asian economic collapse in 1997 and the arrival of a tough new breed of middle eastern islamic preachers sowed the seeds of the current challenge to indonesia s traditionally moderate form of islam this volume explores the extent to which moderate indonesian islam is able to assimilate leading concepts from western political theory the essays in the collection explore how concepts from western political theory are compatible with a liberal interpretation of islamic universals and how such universals can form the basis for a contemporary approach to the protection of human rights and the articulation of a modern islamic civil society this book provides new information abtou the development of indonesian muslims thinking on issues of theology this theological thought especially as reflected in the works of the modernist muslim thinkers may be seen as a nascent systematic attempt to draw up the essential beliefs of islam in indonesian historical and cultural contexts public religion and the pancasila based state of indonesia an ethical and sociological analysis analyzes the public role of religion in indonesian society from the pre independence period to the end of suharto s new order government it offers constructive suggestions regarding how indonesian religion can play a significant role within the framework of pancasila indonesia s national ideology based on a christian muslim dialogue it is only within the realm of civil society that indonesian religion will be able to promote the ideas of democracy tolerance and human rights in indonesian public affairs in short far from being anti pluralist indonesian religion evolves as a liberating force in the life of society nation and state
