the secular world muhammad in history thought and culture an encyclopedia of the prophet of god distills 14 centuries of thinking about muhammad fully capturing his enduring legacy this encyclopedia will benefit any reader seeking a greater understanding of the founder of islam the fastest growing religion in the world no other publication discusses muhammad at such a high level of detail while remaining easily accessible to non specialist western audiences

al andalus the arabic name for the medieval islamic state in iberia endured for over 750 years following the arab and berber conquest of hispania in 711 while the popular perception of al andalus is that of a land of religious tolerance and cultural cooperation the fact is that we know relatively little about how muslims governed christians and jews in al andalus and about social relations among muslims christians and jews in defining boundaries in al andalus janina m safran takes a close look at the structure and practice of muslim political and legal religious authority and offers a rare look at intercommunal life in iberia during the first three centuries of islamic rule safran makes creative use of a body of evidence that until now has gone largely untapped by historians the writings and opinions of andalusi and maghribi jurists during the umayyad dynasty these sources enable her to bring to life a society undergoing dramatic transformation obvious differences between conquerors and conquered and muslims and non muslims became blurred over time by transculturation intermarriage and conversion safran examines ample evidence of intimate contact between individuals of different religious communities and of legal juridical accommodation to develop an argument about how legal religious authorities interpreted the social contract between the muslim regime and the christian and jewish populations providing a variety of examples of boundary testing and negotiation and bringing judges jurists and their legal opinions and texts into the narrative of andalusi history safran deepens our understanding of the politics of umayyad rule makes islamic law tangibly social and renders intercommunal relations vividly personal thus during that period of oppression when under the name of secularization those in power were seeking the virtual eradication of islām and islāmic culture and their substitution by irreligion and materialist philosophy of western origin with his unequalled learning extraordinarily clear vision and foresight and his courage and his writings badī uzzaman became a point of hope and strength for the people despite the adverse conditions and efforts to isolate him in barla he began to attract students so called since he described himself as a teacher drawn by those lights of belief in that dark time they willingly suffered the persecution and assisted him by writing out and spreading the words the writing and dissemination was another unique feature of the risāla i nūr badī uzzaman would dictate at speed to his students who acted as scribes he had no books for reference and the writing of religious works was of course forbidden they were all written therefore in the mountains and out in the countryside handwritten copies of the treatises or the letters were then made of the originals and these were conveyed to the nur students and secretly copied out in their houses these copies were passed from village to village and then from town to town with more and more copies being made on the way till eventually they spread throughout turkey travel was not easy and badī uzzaman communicated by letter with those of his students who lived in towns and villages other than barla largely in reply to their questions the letters offer important guidance on numerous points of belief and islām explained in the light of the risāla i nūr and its way and in the face of the misguidance of the times indeed they form an important source and authority on many subjects for muslims today since some of his students had previously been attached to sufi orders he sometimes explains the way of the risāla i nūr to them through comparisons with the sufi way the primary aim of the risāla i nūr is the saving and strengthening of belief employing both the intellect and the heart badī uzzaman described it as reality ḥaqīqah and shari a rather than ṭarīqah that is sufism it is the highway of the qur an which teaches the true affirmation of divine unity true and certain belief attained in a short time through investigation and the exercise of the reason the direct way to reality and knowledge of allah which is the way of the companions of prophet uwbp through the legacy of prophethood some of the letters offer guidance and encouragement to the students by answering criticisms and misrepresentations put forward by those antithetical to religion concerning both points of islām and badī uzzaman himself others expose the plans to corrupt islām through the introduction of innovations they show how on the one hand badī uzzaman was absolutely uncompromising in the face of enemies to religion and on the other his complete fairness and moderateness in adjudicating points of conflict and controversy within islām all these illustrate his profound knowledge of many subjects as well as the clarity and power of his style which is based on logic
