the idea of light and darkness is one of the central ideas of the symbolist movement since this is a movement of contrasts it encompasses the major themes of symbolism such as good and evil beauty and ugliness the visible and the invisible and the divine and the earthly this volume brings together a range of studies in order to understand the notion of light and darkness and a variety of its symbolist interpretations it also stresses the interdisciplinary nature of the concepts of light and darkness in symbolism as well as the cohabitation and symbiosis of both which are together or separately at the core of this movement although often considered an esoteric figure occupying the dark fringes of twentieth century thought georges bataille was a pivotal precursor to a generation of poststructuralist and postmodern thinkers including baudrillard derrida foucault lacan and lyotard the sunday of the negative provides the most extensive english language investigation of bataille s critical treatment of the thought of hegel focusing on the notions of subjectivity desire self consciousness knowledge and the experience of the divine the book spans all of bataille s writings patiently navigating even the most obscure texts the author explains how bataille s notion of self consciousness both derives from and is an alternative to that of hegel disclosing the origins of bataille s most influential concepts the book moves across philosophy proper to include reflections on anthropology economics cultural criticism poetry eroticism mysticism and religion this book can best be described as an extended meditation on suffering phenomenological in method and dialectical in point of view the angle the author takes is that of moral self examination rather than conventional scholarly inquiry and his aim is to think through and evaluate a fundamental claim of our culture from aeschylus to solzhenitsyn that suffering is the greatest spiritual teacher to bring the argument closer to home professor miller focuses on the experience of crisis as the undermining of our attempts at all costs to keep control of our lives this leads him to discuss topics such as the nature of vulnerability the difference as sketched by heidegger between ordinary fear and metaphysical dread the ordinary avoidance of suffering and the heroic willingness to embrace it exemplified by nietzsche s thus spake zarathustra but this is a philosophical essay not a historical monograph and miller s goal is to lead the reader ever deeper in to the heart of crisis where all our illusions about control are stripped away and we forced to face like oedipus the harshest reality of all that even our existence is not something we can claim as our own it is here and only here miller claims the issue of religious conversion can be and must be seriously faced this is a demanding book as exhilarating as it is relentless in its unmasking of the evasions and duplicities with which we shore up our day to day lives the late william f lynch sj author of christ and apollo called it a profoundly moral study of man to read it is to risk changing your life presenting a unique exploration of education at the edge of experience this book investigates how unassimilable concepts can reconceptualize education in order to grapple with what is beyond understanding working at the intersection of curriculum theory philosophy and psychoanalysis morris examines how each of these unassimilable concepts such as lament disavowal breathlessness and the kafkaesque point toward currere as the edge of experience it addresses what lee braver calls the groundless grounds and what avital ronell calls the quicksand that is philosophy to approach slippage and breaking points through an interdisciplinary lens pointing to an understanding of our largely social ills and extending william f pinar s early work on currere in new and innovative directions this book will appeal to curriculum theorists education philosophers psychoanalysts and those with interests in the philosophy and theory of education hegel and nietzsche are two of the most important figures in philosophy and religion robert r williams challenges the view that they are mutually exclusive he identifies four areas of convergence first hegel and nietzsche express and define modern interest in tragedy as a philosophical topic each seeks to correct the traditional philosophical and theological suppression of a tragic view of existence this suppression of the tragic is required by the moral vision of the world both in the tradition and in kant s practical philosophy and its postulates for both hegel and nietzsche the moral vision of the world is a projection of spurious life negating values that nietzsche calls the ascetic ideal and that hegel identifies as the spurious infinite the moral god is the enforcer of morality second while acknowledging a tragic dimension of existence hegel and nietzsche nevertheless affirm that existence is good in spite of suffering both affirm a vision of human freedom as open to otherness and requiring recognition and community struggle and contestation have affirmative significance for both third while the moral god is dead this does not put an end to the god question theology must incorporate the death of god as its own theme the union of god and death expressing divine love is for hegel the basic speculative intuition this implies a dipolar panentheistic concept of a tragic suffering god who risks loves and reconciles fourth williams argues that both hegel and nietzsche pursue theodicy not as a justification of the moral god but rather as a question of the meaningfulness and goodness of existence despite nihilism and despite tragic conflict and suffering the inseparability of divine love and anguish means that reconciliation is no conflict free harmony but includes a paradoxical tragic dissonance reconciliation is a disquieted bliss in disaster
