this collection identifies the key tensions and conflicts being debated within the field of critical disability studies and provides both an outline of the field in its current form and offers manifestos for its future direction traversing a number of disciplines from science and technology studies to maternal studies the collection offers a transdisciplinary vision for the future of critical disability studies some common thematic concerns emerge across the book such as digital futures the usefulness of anger creativity family as disability allies intersectionality ethics eugenics accessibility and interdisciplinarity however the contributors who write as either disabled people or allies do not proceed from a singular approach to disability often reflecting different or even opposing positions on these issues containing contributions from established and new voices in disability studies outlining their own manifesto for the future of the field this book will be of interest to all scholars and students working within the fields of disability studies cultural studies sociology law history and education the concerns introduced here are further explored in its sister volume interdisciplinary approaches to disability looking towards the future this book addresses the largely neglected place of women defendants in contemporary international criminal law beyond the construction of women as victims and asks what the analysis of women perpetrators defendants and suspects reveals about international criminal law the media and feminism the book uses the topic of women perpetrators defendants and suspects as a way to explore the concept of legal subjectivity via a gender analysis it highlights how women perpetrators defendants and suspects are constituted through three spheres namely the areas of international criminal law the media and feminism in examining the relationship between women perpetrators defendants and suspects and each of these spheres the book exposes embedded gender biases and structural gender fractures these reveal that problematic assumptions about how gender operates in conflict are embedded in the very foundations of legal imaginations ultimately the book argues that this has far reaching consequences beyond its impact on current understandings of armed conflict rather these assumptions should be a concern for us all even in times of peace this book will be of use to legal academics and practitioners interested in gender within international criminal law as well as those concerned with contemporary feminist approaches to law
