this brief volume supplements lemmon s classic introductory logic text with almost 200 new exercises many of them solved solutions to selected exercises in beginning logic itself a helpful commentary on lemmon s use of key technical terms alternative formulations and advice to students the aim of this book is to provide an exposition of elementary formal logic the course which is primarily intended for first year students who have no previous knowledge of the subject forms a working basis for more advanced reading and is presented in such a way as to be intelligible to the layman the nature of logic is examined with the gradual introduction of worked samples showing how to distinguish the sound statement from the unsound arguments whose soundness cannot be proved by propositional calculus are discussed and it is shown how formalization can reveal the logical form of arguments the final section of the book deals with the application of the predicate calculus as applied in various other fields of logic looks at the often secretive process of audience testing hollywood movies and how it can help shape movies with first hand accounts from directors such as ron howard cameron crowe drew barrymore and ed zwick the 1950s were a transitional period for film comedians the artistic suppression of the mccarthy era and the advent of television often resulted in a dumbing down of motion pictures cartoonist turned director frank tashlin contributed a funny but cartoonish effect through his work with comedians like jerry lewis and bob hope a new vanguard of comedians appeared without stock comic garb or make up fresh faces not easily pigeonholed as merely comedians such as tony randall jack lemmon and tony curtis some traditional comedians like charlie chaplin red skelton and danny kaye continued their shtick though with some evident tweaking this book provides insight into a misunderstood decade of film history with an examination of the personality comedians the talents of dean martin and bob hope are reappraised and the dumb blonde stereotype as applied to judy holliday and marilyn monroe is deconstructed this chronicle of harrison ford s life and career contains detailed analyses of each film along with behind the scenes insights casts credits original reviews ford s comments and hundreds of photos this study seeks to show how human intelligence starts from observable properties of things and moves to unobservable realities especially causes language and mythology then reflect the characteristics of this mode the text goes on to argue against innate ideas and a priori concepts by showing the empirical character of philosophy and contrasting its foundations and explanatory method with the natural sciences
