this book is a tool for teaching and studying the great christian classic augustine's confessions it is a unique venture in which thirteen different scholars look at each of the thirteen books in the confessions and interpret their chapters in light of that book and in light of the rest of augustine's work the result is that the richness and ambiguity of augustine's work shines through as well as the richness and ambiguity of different readings of the confessions catholic positions on contested moral issues are rejected by the majority in the secular west and are increasingly rejected by catholics themselves in this book david deane argues that there are two main reasons for this first the dominance of secular approaches deprives catholic positions of their claim to coherence second the catholic positions deane shows have lost contact with the theology on which they were originally based in response deane undertakes a deconstruction of the dominant secular positions and seeks to restore catholic positions to their theological roots the result of this is a moral theology reconnected with the trinitarian understanding of god and god's relationship with the world restored to its doctrinal foundations the moral theology that deane offers is more coherent more beautiful and more convincing than has been found in catholic moral discourse for centuries please note this is a companion version not the original book sample book insights 1 to praise you is the desire of man a little piece of your creation yet to praise you is the desire of man because you have made us for yourself and our heart is restless until it rests in you 2 i ask who i am i am god who is lord i am most high utterly good utterly powerful most omnipotent most merciful and just i am deeply hidden yet most intimately present i am the perfection of both beauty and strength and i am always active always in repose 3 i do not know where i came from and i do not remember how i lived before i was born i was welcomed by the consolations of human milk and i did not wish for more than they were giving me 4 i was like an infant crying and throwing my limbs about i was not understood and when i did not get my way i was angry with my seniors for their disobedience and with free people who were not slaves to my interests what is tragedy this work argues that it is at once art and science an absorbing art and precisely observed empirical inquiry into human psychology whose subject matter is the dilemma of manhood under democracy the author expands discussion of the idea of the tragic to include music drama in general and the operas of verdi in particular and explores the indispensable contribution of tragedy to an understanding of personal and political psychology through discussion of the political theory of structural injustice resting on the suppression of voice underlying evils like racism sexism and homophobia a developmental psychology of gender drawing on the work of carol gilligan the harvard project on women s psychology boy s development and the culture of manhood and an interpretation of tragic art including the expressive role of music in it exploration of the tragic impact of patriarchy on democratic voice is at the heart of the power and appeal of Verdi's innovations in musical voice at its core is a complex psychic geography of patriarchal practices imposed on personal and political relationships parents to children siblings to one another and adult men and women such practices fundamental to the family politics and religion enforce demands by forms of physical and psychological violence directed by men and women at anyone who deviates from its demands Verdi's tragic musical drama speaks of an emotional loss that literally cannot under patriarchy be spoken namely what the author calls the tragedy of patriarchy a divided psychology that lives in the tension between patriarchal practices and democratic principles and between the psychological demands of patriarchy and democratic manhood gender and power in medieval exegesis analyzes the nexus of gender and power in biblical commentaries from the fifth to the fifteenth century focusing on crucial moments in the development of exegesis the argument pursues the literary trope of the woman on top through major literary exegetical works Augustine's Confessions Jerome's Against Jovinian the Fleury Slaughter of Innocents and Chaucer's Wife of Bath's prologue Theresa Tinkle reveals how the authoritative woman in these works can signify either a troubling disruption of ordained social order or an admirable inversion of order that sets the church apart from dominant culture establishing a feminist historicist perspective this book situates exegesis in history and exposes the cultural pressures behind exegetes decision making combines theoretically engaged analyses with historically contextualized close readings to open new ways of understanding the relations between devotional literature and early modern English culture provided by publisher
