for more than half a century the brazilian army used fear and censorship to erase aspects of its history from public memory and to create its own political myths although the military had remarkable success in promoting its version of events recent democratization has allowed scholars access to new materials with which to challenge the official story drawing on oral histories secret police documents memoirs of dissident officers army records and other sources only recently made available shawn smallman crafts a compelling revisionist interpretation of brazil s political history from 1889 to 1954 smallman examines the topics the brazilian military wished to obscure racial politics and terror campaigns institutional corruption and civil military alliances political torture and personal rivalries to understand the army s growing involvement in civilian affairs among the myths he confronts are the military s idealized rendition of its racial policies and its portrayal of itself as above the corruption associated with politicians his account not only illuminates the origins of the military government's repressive and often brutal actions during the 1960s and 1970s but also carries implications for contemporary Brazil as the armed forces debate their role in a democratic country

Brazil was one of the emerging world powers to be invited to the Paris Peace Conference in 1919 having jettisoned her empire just thirty years before the Portuguese speaking nation was showing signs of becoming one of the financial powerhouses not just of Latin America but of the world helped by abundant natural resources cheap labour and large scale immigration Brazil's economy had grown massively and now it wanted to take its proper place in the society of world nations in Paris the country's delegation was led by Epitácio Pessoa a brilliant lawyer who had made his mark in national politics and was also a committed Europhile it was a shrewd choice helped by the Americans Pessoa negotiated a deal to rescue Brazilian coffee from the German ports where it had languished since the middle of the war he also helped win a place at the top table for Brazil in the new League of Nations Pessoa was then rewarded by being elected president of Brazil even though he was in Paris at the time yet even as Brazil enjoyed its moment of triumph on the international stage the country's political system was starting to unravel Pessoa's presidency ended in failure in 1922 its modest achievements overshadowed by bitter army revolts and as Pessoa embarked on a new career as an international judge his country slipped further into political infighting between elite oligarchies until the ageing republic finally folded in 1930 this then is the story of Epitácio Pessoa the Treaty of Versailles and the rise and fall of Brazil's tumultuous first republic

In 1919 Bolshevik Russia and its followers formed the Communist International also known as the Comintern to oversee the global communist movement from the very beginning the Comintern committed itself to ending world imperialism supporting colonial liberation and promoting racial equality coinciding with the centenary of the Comintern's founding left transnationalism highlights the different approaches interwar communists took in responding to these issues bringing together leading and emerging scholars on the Communist International individual communist parties and national and colonial questions this collection moves beyond the hyperpoliticized scholarship of the cold war era and re-energizes the field contributors focus on transnational diasporic and cultural networks comparative studies of key debates on race and anti colonialism the internationalizing impulse of the movement and the evolution of communist platforms through transnational exchange essays further emphasize the involvement of communist and socialist parties across Canada Australia India China Japan Southeast Asia Latin America South Africa and Europe highlighting the active discussions on nationality race and imperialism that took place in Comintern circles left transnationalism demonstrates that this organization as well as communism in general was especially in the years before 1935 far more heterogeneous creative and unpredictable than the rubber stamp of the Soviet Union described in conventional historiography contributors include Michel Beaulieu Lakehead University Marc Becker Truman State University Anna Belogurova Freie Universität Berlin Oleksa Drachewych University of Guelph Daria Dyakonova Université de Montréal Alastair Kocho Williams Clarkson University Andrée Lévesque McGill University Lars T.
