this book examines the phenomenological anthropology of edith stein it specifically focuses on the question which stein addressed in her work finite and eternal being what is the foundational principle that makes the individual unique and unrepeatable within the human species traditional analyses of edith stein s writings have tended to frame her views on this issue as being influenced by aristotle and thomas aquinas while neglecting her interest in the lesser known figure of duns scotus yet as this book shows with regard to the question of individuality stein was critical of aquinas approach finding that of duns scotus to be more convincing in order to get to the heart of stein s readings of duns scotus this book looks at her published writings and her personal correspondence in addition to conducting a meticulous analysis of the original codexes on which her sources were based written with diligence and flair the book critically evaluates the authenticity of stein s sources and shows how the position of scotus himself evolved it highlights the originality of stein s contribution which was to rediscover the relevance of mediaeval scholastic thought and reinterpret it in the language of the phenomenological school founded by edmund husserl

the present volumes is the result of an international collaboration of researchers who are excellent within their respective fields interpretation of texts studies of rites archaeology architecture history of art and cultural anthropology they met for two conferences to discuss the significance of rites of ablution initiation and baptism and their interpretation in late antiquity early judaism and early christianity the volume establishes a new international standard of research within these fields of scholarship in the web of cultural processes of late antiquity ablution rites and initiation rites were performed in different forms and in different contexts such rites existed in early judaism and greco roman cults and were also applied in early christianity under the label baptism however not as one fixed rite uniformly performed and interpreted baptismal rites developed diversely corresponding to the diversity among christian groups of which some later came to be perceived as heretical remains of art architecture and texts from these contexts were discussed in two conferences gathering scholars who are excellent within their respective fields text studies studies of rites archaeology architecture history of art and cultural anthropology these different fields of research have in recent years generated new knowledge that is relevant for the discussion of ablution and initiation rites and their function in late antiquity at the same time interests of research have altered in favour of a growing cooperation across discipline borders the present volumes are the outcome of two conferences in rome 2008 and at metochi lesbos 2009
