camino real is a 1953 play by tennessee williams the play takes its title from its setting alluded to el camino real a dead end place in a spanish speaking town surrounded by desert with sporadic transportation to the outside world it is described by williams as nothing more nor less than my conception of the time and the world i live in kilroy a young american visitor fulfills some of the functions of the play s narrator as does gutman named after sydney greenstreet s character from the maltese falcon but bearing more resemblance to signor ferrari greenstreet s character in casablanca manager of the hotel siete mares whose terrace occupies part of the stage williams also employs a large cast of characters including many famous literary characters who appear in dream sequences they include don quixote and his partner sancho marguerite camille gautier see the lady of the camellias casanova lord byron and esmeralda see the hunchback of notre dame among others taking place in the main plaza the play goes through a series of confusing and almost logic defying events including the revival of the gypsy's daughter Esmeralda's virginity and then the loss of it again a main theme that the play deals with is coming to terms with the thought of growing older and possibly becoming irrelevant. Fuji Books edition of Camino Real contains supplementary texts: an excerpt from The Rose Tattoo by Tennessee Williams, an excerpt from The Glass Menagerie by Tennessee Williams, a few selected quotes of Tennessee Williams.

Broadway producer Cheryl Crawford (1902–1986) declared in her 1977 autobiography The Theatre Has Been My Life that Crawford was notoriously circumspect about her private life and only now, with Milly S. Barranger's insightful biography, is her full story revealed. A major Broadway producer in an era when women producers were exceedingly rare, Crawford found unprecedented success with the plays of Tennessee Williams, including The Rose Tattoo and Sweet Bird of Youth. But her enduring legend is as a musical producer, having brought Kurt Weill's One Touch of Venus, Lerner and Loewe's Brigadoon, and Paint Your Wagon to the stage. Her commercial success, though, was balanced with the founding of studios that would enable actors to explore their art outside the strictures of commercial theater. She cofounded the Group Theatre with Harold Clurman and Lee Strasberg, the American Repertory Theatre with Margaret Webster and Eva Le Gallienne, and the Actors Studio with Elia Kazan and Robert Lewis. But her idealism was constantly frustrated by unfulfilled artistic promises from her male counterparts and by the chronic shortage of funding for the nonprofit enterprises. As Barranger traces Crawford's career as an independent producer, she tells the parallel story of American theater in the mid-twentieth century, making A Gambler's Instinct both an enjoyable and informative biography of a remarkable woman and an important addition to the literature of the modern theater.

This guide covers theater as literature and offers listings of scholarly explications from colonial to contemporary, Edward Albee to Tennessee Williams, arranged alphabetically by playwright and play title. The bibliography covers both periodicals and book-length criticism and reflects a variety of critical methods.

This volume is a comprehensive collection of critical essays on The Taming of the Shrew and includes extensive discussions of the play's various printed versions and its theatrical productions. Aspinall has included only those essays that offer the most influential and controversial arguments surrounding the play. The issues discussed include gender, authority, female autonomy, and unruliness; courtship and marriage; language and speech; and performance and theatricality.

This Behind the Scenes Account analyzes the evolution of the premier classical theater company in the U.S. against the changing social and economic landscape of Washington, D.C.
