frederic dannay 1905 1982 was with his partner manfred lee the creator of the ellery queen detective novels and short stories dannay

was also a literary historian and critic and the editor of the renowned Ellery Queen mystery magazine. Queen both a pen name and the fictional protagonist of the stories was also a vital force behind the continuing popularity of crime fiction in the early to mid 20th century after the deaths of Arthur Conan Doyle, G. K. Chesterton, Melville Davisson Post and other old masters of the genre. This book presents the first critical study of Ellery Queen's role in the preservation of the detective short story. Many of the writers, characters and stories EQ championed are covered, including such celebrated authors as Allingham, Ambler, Ellin, Innes, Vickers and even William Butler Yeats.

By focusing on key figures in early years education and care, this book considers the influential thinkers and ground-breaking approaches that have revolutionized practice, with contributions from leading authorities in the field. Chapters provide an explanation of the approach, an analysis of the theoretical background, case studies, questions and discussion points to facilitate critical thinking. Included are chapters on Froebel, psychoanalytical theories, Maria Montessori, Steiner, Waldorf education, high scope, post-modern and post-structuralist perspectives, forest schools, Vivian Gussin Paley, Te Whāriki. Written in an accessible style and relevant to all levels of early years courses, the book has staggered levels of further reading that encourage reflection and promote progression. Linda Miller is professor emerita of early years, The Open University. Linda Pound is a consultant and author renowned for her work in early years education and care.

Camp rejects the philosophical conceit that confusion is a kind of ambiguity. His fundamental claim is that confusion is not a mental state. He proposes a novel characterization of confusion and then demonstrates its fruitfulness with several applications in the history of philosophy and the history of science.

Pauline Frederick Reporting is the biography of the life and career of the first woman to become a network news correspondent after no less an authority than Edward R. Murrow. Told her there was no place for her in broadcasting, Pauline Frederick, 1908-90, cracked the good old boys club through determination and years of hard work, eventually becoming a trusted voice to millions of television viewers. During Frederick's nearly fifty years as a journalist, she interviewed a young Fidel Castro, covered the Nuremberg trials, interpreted diplomatic actions at the United Nations and was the first woman to moderate a presidential debate. The life of this pivotal figure in American journalism provides an inside perspective on the growth and political maneuverings of television networks as well as Frederick's relationships with iconic NBC broadcast figures David Brinkley, Chet Huntley and others. Although Frederick repeatedly insisted that she would trade her career glamorous as it was to have a family, a series of romances ended in heartache when she did indeed choose her work over love. At the age of sixty-one, however, she married and attained the family life she had always wanted. Her story is one for all modern women striving to balance career and family.
