desire is both of and beyond the everyday in an ad for running shoes for example the figure of a man jogging at dawn on the serengeti plain both evokes a fantasyof escape and invokes a disciplinary norm to stay fit the bottom line for thead of course is to create a desire to consume the promise being that with thepurchase of these shoes the consumer can realize yet also transcend the daily exhortationto perform to say this differently there is something both real and phantasmic about desire yet this notion seems contradictory isn t there a difference between the desireto be fit for example which is realizable realistic and in these senses realand the desire to escape routine everydayness which for most of us is inescapablemost of the time but is exercise real or phantasmic certainly not everyone works out and even those who make exercise a part of their reality may do so in order to pursue a fantasy about themselves and are escapes from daily routines phantasmic or real an escape from the everyday is far more realizable for some people than even fitness but here too what is fantasy blends into and becomes indistinguishable from the real a vacation away from work may be a means of ensuring a higher level of work performance when one returns
