this book offers the first systematic comparative analysis of military education and training in europe within the context of the post cold war security environment based on an analysis of military education institutions in the uk germany finland romania and the baltic states this book demonstrates that the convergence of european military cultures since the end of the cold war is linked to changes in military education the process of convergence originates at least in part from the full or partial adoption of a new concept by post commissioning professional military education institutions the national defence university officers are now educated alongside civilians and public servants wherein they enjoy a socialization experience that is markedly different from that of previous generations of european officers and is increasingly similar across national borders in addition this book argues that with the control over the curricula and graduation criteria increasingly set by civilian higher education authorities the european armed forces while continuing to exist and hold significant although declining capabilities stand to lose their status as a profession in the traditional sense this book will be of much interest to students of military european security policy european politics and in general military culture and popular patriotism examines the interplay between popular patriotism and military culture in late imperial austria laurence cole suggests that two main questions should be asked regarding the western half of the habsburg monarchy during the period from the mid nineteenth century to the outbreak of war in 1914 firstly how far did imperial austrian society experience a process of militarization comparable to that of other european countries secondly how far did the military sphere foster popular patriotism in the multinational state various manifestations of military culture including hero cults and above all military veterans associations provide the main subject for analysis in this volume after exploring the historical development of military culture in the habsburg monarchy cole explains how the long reign of emperor franz joseph i constituted a decisive phase in the militarization of austrian society with the dynasty and state emphasizing the military s role as the locus of loyalty popular manifestations of military culture such as the hero cult surrounding field marshal radetzky and military veterans associations complemented the official agenda in many respects however veterans associations in particular constituted a political mobilization of the lower middle and lower classes who asserted their own interests and position in civil society as is shown by case studies of regions of the austrian state with significant italian speaking populations trentino and the littoral state attempts to assert greater control of veterans activities led to national and political opposition at a time when tensions over militarism and foreign policy increased the black and the gold thus raises the question of whether the military was really a bulwark of the multinational state or rather a polarizing force in imperial austrian society as of september 2017 the united nations alone deployed 110 000 uniformed personnel from 122 countries in fifteen peacekeeping operations worldwide soldiers in these missions are important actors who not only have considerable responsibility for implementing peace and stability operations but also have a concomitant influence on their goals and impact yet we know surprisingly little about the factors that prompt soldiers behavior despite being deployed on the same mission under similar conditions various national contingents display significant systematic differences in their actions on the ground in military cultures in peace and stability operations chiara ruffa challenges the widely held assumption that military contingents regardless of their origins implement mandates in a similar manner she argues instead that military culture the set of attitudes values and beliefs instilled into an army and transmitted across generations of those in uniform influences how soldiers behave at the tactical level when soldiers are abroad they are usually deployed as units and when a military unit deploys its military culture goes with it by investigating where military culture comes from ruffa demonstrates why military units conduct themselves the way they do between 2007 and 2014 ruffa was embedded in french and italian units deployed under comparable circumstances in two different kinds of peace and stability operations the united nations interim force in lebanon and the nato mission in afghanistan based on hundreds of interviews she finds that while french units prioritized patrolling and the display of high levels of protection and force such as body armor and weaponry italian units placed greater emphasis on delivering humanitarian aid she concludes that civil military relations and societal beliefs about the use of force in the units home country have an impact on the military culture overseas soldiers perceptions and behavior and ultimately consequences for their ability to keep the peace
