the story of the b 52s neon side of town is the first critical history of one of the most legendary and influential bands in american popular music locating the b 52s in the intellectual climate of their hometown of athens ga and following the band from new york s downtown scene in the early 1980s to their upcoming farewell tour the book argues that the b 52s are much more significant political and musical influences on american society than their reputation as a silly party band suggests and that their ongoing commitment to values including cooperation mutual support and using disruptive fun as a form of social change are an antidote to the neoliberalization sweeping both athens and the rest of the western world for example the book shows how the band synthesized influences from the modern artists displayed at the university of georgia art museum early queer activism on campus in the 1970s and their experiences as queer people living through the aids crisis to create music that continues to be artistically and politically influential today the authors are active members of the athens ga music scene and the book includes original interviews with a range of number close to the band in 2013 the nobel prize for literature was for the first time awarded to a short story writer and to a canadian alice munro the award focused international attention on a genre that had long been thriving in canada particularly since the 1960s this book traces the development and highlights of the english language canadian short story from the late 19th century up to the present the history as well as the theoretical approaches to the genre are covered with in depth examination of exemplary stories by prominent writers such as margaret atwood and alice munro the short story has been a staple of american literature since the nineteenth century taught in virtually every high school and consistently popular among adult readers but what makes a short story unique in reading for storyness susan lohafer former president of the society for the study of the short story argues that there is much more than length separating short stories from novels and other works of fiction with its close readings of stories by kate chopin julio cortázar katherine mansfield and others this book challenges assumptions about the short story and effectively redefines the genre in a fresh and original way in her analysis lohafer combines traditional literary theory with a more unconventional mode of research monitoring the reactions of readers as they progress through a story to establish a new poetics of the genre singling out the phenomenon of imminent closure as the genre s defining trait she then proceeds to identify preclosure points or places where a given story could end in order to access hidden layers of the reading experience she expertly harnesses this theory of preclosure to explore interactions between pedagogy and theory formalism and cultural studies fiction and nonfiction returning to the roots of storyness lohafer illuminates the intricacies of classic short stories and experimental forms of surreal postmodern and minimalist fiction she also discusses the impact of social constructions such as gender on the identification of preclosure points by individual readers reading for storyness combines cognitive science with literary theory to present a compelling argument for the uniqueness of the short story
