folktales are instrumental in ensuring the survival of oral traditions and strengthening communal bonds both the stories and the process of storytelling itself help to define social cultural and political identity for palestinians the threat of losing their heritage has engendered a sense of urgency among storytellers and palestinian folklorists yet there has been remarkably little academic scholarship dedicated to the tradition farah aboubakr here analyses a selection of folktales edited compiled and translated by ibrahim muhawi and sharif kanaana in speak bird speak again 1989 in addition to the folktales themselves muhawi and kanaana s collection is renowned for providing readers with extensive folkloric historical and anthropological annotations here for the first time the folktales and the compilers work on them are the subject of scholarly analysis synthesising various disciplines including memory studies gender studies and social movement studies aboubakr uses the collection to understand the politics of storytelling and its impact on palestinian identity in particular the book draws attention to the female storytellers who play an essential role in transmitting and preserving collective memory and culture the book is an important step towards analysing a significant genre of palestinian literature and will be relevant to scholars of palestinian politics and popular culture gender studies and memory studies and those interested in folklore and oral literature can entertainment challenge divisive ideologies can we use theater film games novels and stories disarm the ideologies of fear ideological battlegrounds entertainment to disarm divisive propaganda introduces and develops ideologically challenging entertainment ice to challenge us versus them narratives ice counters polarizing perspectives by embracing multiple valid viewpoints without losing sight of facts additionally this book explores the first ice production two merchants the merchant of venice adapted to challenge ideologies related to the arab israeli conflict a mixed methods study of audience responses to this production showed that a significant number of audience members reconsidered their views not only about the arab israeli conflict but also about ideological divisions that were more personally relevant ideological battlegrounds is unique both in its conceptualization of entertainment as a means to address local and global conflicts and in its provision of evidence for the power of performance as a tool for confronting and influencing ideological change this book offers a new approach to bridging dangerous ideological chasms that without significant intervention will only continue to worsen cyprus gained independence in 1960 without a strong national identity citizens considered themselves greeks or turks not cypriots as a result the country was susceptible to external as well as internal attacks ethnic pride reinforced by proximity to both countries inflamed the majority of the population and was encouraged by the historic rivalry between the two homelands this is the political salient cleavage further emphasized by the 1960 constitution which fortified the stronghold on each ethnic homeland by guaranteeing to maintain both turkish and greek customs when i commenced this journey international relations and comparative theories were the primary way of interpreting cyprus s internal friction while examining the national state as an institution i realized their limitations specifically while scrutinizing the 1974 cypriot crisis i applied a culturally oriented comparative perspective along with game theoretic international models in order to gain a thorough understanding and find the root cause of cyprus s turmoil during this process i discovered a mechanism i now call transnational nationalism a methodical analysis of the cypriot crisis of 1974 gives further insight into cultural politics which has continued to play a powerful role in nations such as the lands of northern ireland lebanon palestine and bosnia herzegovina these nations all share a common characteristic foreign and domestic forces attempting to achieve transnational nationalism as each group strives to maintain its national identity leading to further division
