a series of case studies maría bjerg offers a portrayal of the emotional dynamics of transnational marital bonds and intimate relationships stretched across continents using microhistories and case studies this book shows how migration affected marital bonds with loneliness betrayal fear and frustration focusing primarily on the emotional lives of italian and spanish migrants this book explores bigamy infidelity adultery domestic violence and murder within official and unofficial unions it reveals the complexities of obligation financial hardship sacrifice and distance that came with migration and explores how shame jealousy vengeance and disobedience led to the breaking of marital ties against a backdrop of changing cultural contexts bjerg examines the emotional languages and practices used by adulterous women against their offended husbands to justify domestic violence and as a defence against homicide demonstrating how migration was a powerful catalyst of change in emotional lives and in evolving social standards emotions and migration in early twentieth century argentina reveals intimate and disordered lives at a time when female obedience and male honour were not only paramount but exacerbated by distance and displacement this book advances the theory that a potential leading export sector in this case the oil sector is capable of inducing economic growth even in peripheral countries where the product line is primary in nature in venezuela the oil sector has contributed directly and indirectly to the development of the country s overall economy particularly from 1936 to 1973 when that sector met the criteria of a leading sector i e one that expands rapidly and obtains a large specific size relative to the economy as a whole oil investment in venezuela contributed to the fiscal sector the foreign sector gdp income backward and forward linkages the multiplier and accelerator effects and the retained value of total expenditures in spite of recent efforts to diversify the production and export mix the venezuelan economy continues to remain heavily dependent on oil production for export during the midcentury decades of solid growth it became evident that government oversight was needed to ensure that the numerous contributions flowing from the oil sector would be put to good use overall it appears that the contributions were well utilized by the venezuelan government although there was plenty of room for improvement income distribution problems and other social inequities continued to beset the development process leaving the economy rigid and inflexible consequently when the oil sector faltered 1974 to 2000 venezuela was unable to shift into other product lines political disarray soon followed and with it a pervasive aura of economic uncertainty that persists to this day
