adam and eve in scripture theology and literature sin compassion and forgiveness is an extended consideration of the narrative of adam and eve first seen in the hebrew bible but given new life by st paul in the new testament paul s treatment of adam and eve especially his designation of christ as a second adam has had an enormous influence in christianity peter ely follows this rich narrative as it develops in history providing the basis of the doctrine of original sin in christianity giving rise in modern times to theological speculation and entering thematically into mysticism and literature the power of the adamic narrative can only be realized if one treats it as a true but non historical myth the truth of the myth lies in its ability to stimulate thinking and so reveal the depths of human experience augustine understood that so did julian of norwich and even the belgian author of mystery stories georges simenon who had a deep sense of the universality of human weakness and the possibilities of redeeming what was lost simenon s detective maigret saw himself as a mender of destinies the doctrine of original sin the notion that human beings share a common vulnerability can open the way to compassion and forgiveness as shakespeare illustrates in measure for measure the awareness of weakness in ourselves should move us to compassion for others the recognition of a kind of democracy of sin can keep us from considering ourselves better than others unlike them in their weakness and entitled to stand in judgment of them thus compassion opens the door to forgiveness the progress from sin to compassion to forgiveness forms the heart of this work the investigation of union with christ and justification has been dominated by the figure of john calvin calvin s influence however has been exaggerated in our own day theologians within the early modern reformed tradition contributed to the development of these doctrines and did not view calvin as the normative theologian of the tradition john v fesko therefore goes beyond calvin and explores union with christ and justification in the reformation early orthodox and high orthodox periods of the reformed tradition and covers lesser known but equally important figures such as juan de valdes peter martyr vermagli girolamo zanchi william perkins john owen francis turretin and herman witsius the study also covers theologians that either lie outside or transgress the reformed tradition such as martin luther philip melanchthon faustus socinus jacob arminius and richard baxter by treating this diverse body of figures the study reveals areas of agreement and diversity on these two doctrines the author demonstrates that among the diverse formulations all surveyed reformed theologians accord justification priority over sanctification within the broader rubric of union with christ fesko shows that reformed theologians affirm both union with christ and the golden chain of salvation ideas that moderns find incompatible in sum rather than reading an individual theologian isolated from his context this study provides a contextual reading of union with christ and justification in the early modern reformed context
