this biography by rev john macpherson was prepared soon after moorhouse at the early age of forty passed to his rest the material at command was suffi cient if not ample although moorhouse always had the strongest objection to anything in the shape of press puffs the limelight of this world possessing no attraction to him during the years that have lapsed since this biography was issued a few new facts have come to light and some which actually did receive mr macpherson s recognition have been rendered of deeper interest through the publication of biographies of men of god who knew moorhouse notably that of dwight lyman moody it may be permitted therefore by way of preface to the popular edition to add a few further words regarding moorhouse and his career as an evangelist and bible expositor and teacher it is impossible to read the life of moorhouse without being convinced that the divine plan for him at any rate was to go forth to the masses as an evangelist moreover it may well be that his career has a lesson for the university and the training college in that it teaches that great things god may accomplish according to his blessed will through a man whose gifts are kindled into brilliancy by the light which shines from the book of books and to whom is given the wisdom of which the prophet spake when he declared he that winneth souls is wise excerpt from henry moorhouse the english evangelist moorhouse in his use of the bible was a man apart in the sphere of evangelism like others of his day he rose from the ranks of the poor and broke from associations with drunkards and music hall frequenters and the sing song of the mid victorian day was debased indeed from such a quagmire of sin and folly he emerged riveting the interest of great audiences and creating not merely a strong affection for himself which he counted as nothing but a sense of joy and delight in redemption's plan and in the lovely pages of prophet and apostle wherein by the inspiration of the spirit that plan is set forth in two continents the name of Moorhouse came to be sufficient among many people to arouse deep interest and profound attention of education he had little or none yet he was familiar with the ways of men and developed a wonderful gift for winning the ear of the multitude his personal appearance was by no means calculated to impress so frail was he so boyish in simplicity but when once his tongue was unloosed and the stores of his warm heart and alert mind were brought forth men were fascinated by his glowing words being moreover the more surprised that so much skill and so much fervour lay hidden beneath so ordinary an exterior wherefore as he expounded scripture still the wonder grew that one small head could carry all he knew excerpt from Henry Moorhouse the English evangelist
