I Foundational Network Concepts

This section addresses the fundamental building blocks of computer networks crucial for demonstrating your basic understanding

1 What is a Computer Network Explain different types

A computer network is a collection of interconnected computing devices computers servers smartphones etc that can communicate and share resources like data software and hardware Different types exist based on geographical scope and ownership

- Local Area Network (LAN) Connects devices within a limited area like an office or home
- Metropolitan Area Network (MAN) Covers a larger geographical area such as a city
- Wide Area Network (WAN) Spans vast distances connecting LANs and MANs across continents eg the internet
- Personal Area Network (PAN) Connects devices within a persons immediate vicinity eg Bluetooth devices
- Virtual Private Network (VPN) Creates a secure encrypted connection over a public network like the internet

Understanding the differences and applications of each type is key

2 Explain the difference between TCP and UDP

TCP (Transmission Control Protocol) and UDP (User Datagram Protocol) are both network protocols used for data transmission but they differ significantly in their approach

- TCP Connection-oriented reliable and ordered It guarantees delivery of data packets in the correct sequence and handles retransmissions if packets are lost Suitable for applications requiring high reliability like web browsing and email
- UDP Connectionless unreliable and unordered It doesn't guarantee delivery or order offering speed over reliability Used for applications where speed is prioritized over reliability such as streaming video and online gaming

A concise yet precise explanation of their contrasting features is vital

3 What is the OSI model Briefly describe its layers

The Open Systems Interconnection (OSI) model is a conceptual framework that standardizes the functions of a telecommunication or computing system without regard to its underlying internal structure and technology It divides network communication into seven layers

- Physical Layer Deals with the physical transmission of data cables signals
- Data Link Layer Handles error detection and correction and media access control
- Network Layer Responsible for addressing and routing packets between networks
- Transport Layer Provides reliable end-to-end data transfer
- TCP/UDP Session Layer Manages sessions between applications
- Presentation Layer Handles data formatting and encryption
- Application Layer Provides network services to applications HTTP SMTP etc

Understanding the function of each layer and how they interact is essential
