finally available in english this edition of paying for the past contains a new preface by the author and an afterword by medical ethicist erich loewy which places the ethical issues raised by the west german experiences with reparations into an international context in this book john mulhern iii writes about traveling a total of 7 694 miles in 18 days a route through eighteen widely and wildly different states including not only stops in the the cities of chicago santa fe los angeles san francisco and seattle but also nights in the small towns of claremore point arena and murdo adventures on the road multiple encounters with both high winds and snow yield to visits with friends old and new encounters with various other corvettes and other vehicles of interest and more than a few great restaurants sometimes in the most unexpected places this is a book for travel lovers and most certainly for corvette lovers but most of all for devotees of the stunning beauty and endless variety of america it includes several detailed maps of the route an annotated bibliography and over 150 color photos this volume focuses on the bayou road which was lined with the country seats and residences of the city s earliest settlers the publisher plastic ozone daydream combines fact and fantasy on a wild ride through the birth growth and maturity of the sports car in america during the turbulent half century 1950 2000 the baby boomers changed everything look deeply into the reflection each story has its own identity yet each is connected to all the rest the author and his cast of affable characters say that 1970 was the pivotal year are they right plastic ozone daydream should stimulate your imagination as you cruise through the nostalgic fifties blast through the exciting sixties with a burst of acceleration and bring the anguish of the nineties to the surface when your sports car cost more than your first house these stories describe the broadest emotions with the least words this book should remind us all why we love our sports cars plastic ozone daydream is intended to be both fun to read and challenging to the intellect taking the reader on a journey he never knew existed through the crossroads of his own mind in slightly slower 66 john mulhern iii writes about traveling a total of 6 094 miles in fifteen days including eight wonderful days on route 66 itself the route goes through sixteen widely and wildly different states including not only stops in the big cities of chicago santa fe los angeles and denver but also nights spent in the small cities and towns of tucumcari holbrook and barstow the expected adventures on the road yield to visits with friends old and new encounters with various other corvettes and other vehicles of interest and more than a few great places to eat sometimes in the most unexpected places this pocket sized resource packs a ton of information on the quintessential american sports car for each year the author includes not only vins but specs for blocks heads carburetors alternators and distributors in addition there s a brief corvette history and a photo for each model year 96 illustrations where the roads all end tells the remarkable story of an american family s expeditions to the kalahari desert in the 1950s raytheon founder laurence marshall and his family recorded the lives of the last remaining hunter gatherers the so called bushmen in what is now recognized as one of the most important anthropology ventures in africa this book calls for a re evaluation of the films of robert rossen over a 30 year period he was the most accomplished writer and director who was also a longtime member of the communist party but his achievement has not been recognized his films have been belittled or ignored his legacy denied rossen s films reflected his times and the american scene with a dramatic intensity and personal expression unmatched by any other filmmaker of the period the stages of his political journey from idealism about communism to his rebellion against the party s betrayal of those ideals influenced the rendering of his concerns and themes the flaws of human nature the complexities of motives the paradoxes of betrayal personal and political yet rossen testified against his fellow filmmakers and so his morals and character have been denounced his work diminished as fatally marred by his moral flaws the opposite is true here is a thorough analysis of each of his 22 films and their place in the developing themes of his body of work it integrates this study of the films with a documented narrative of his relationship to the party its history and conflicts its duplicities especially the relations of the party and its followers to the oppressions of the soviet union and so it challenges the validity of the conventional wisdom about the moral issues of the blacklist period
