this volume edited by aisha khan explores muslims lived experiences in the western hemisphere and the ways in which islam has been codified in the new world by muslim minority societies using disparate case studies from the caribbean suriname brazil mexico and others in the atlantic world the military rule of general zia ul haq former president of pakistan had significant political repercussions for the country islamization policies were far more pronounced and control over women became the key marker of the state s adherence to religious norms women s rights activists mobilized as a result campaigning to reverse oppressive policies and redefine the relationship between state society and islam their calls for a liberal democracy led them to be targeted and suppressed this book is a history of the modern women s movement in pakistan the research is based on documents from the women s action forum archives court judgments on relevant cases as well as interviews with activists lawyers and judges and analysis of newspapers and magazines ayesha khan argues that the demand for a secular state and resistance to islamization should not be misunderstood as pakistani women sympathizing with a western agenda rather their work is a crucial contribution to the evolution of the pakistani state the book outlines the discriminatory laws and policies that triggered domestic and international outcry landmark cases of sexual violence that rallied women activists together and the important breakthroughs that enhanced women s rights at a time when the women s movement in pakistan is in danger of shrinking this book highlights its historic significance and its continued relevance today
