this book charts the complex ideological territory of eighteenth century sentimental discourse through the uniquely revealing lens of the london magdalen hospital for penitent prostitutes the establishment of the london magdalen house in 1758 is read as the cultural high watermark of sentimental confidence in the compatibility of virtue and commerce it is the product of a whiggish moral sense discourse at its most ebullient and culturally authoritative equally visible though in this context are the ideological limitations of moral sense thinking and an anticipation of the ways in which its ideas ultimately failed to underwrite commercial virtue sentimental discourse fractures in the course of the mid century in part it becomes increasingly divorced from the world retreating into a primitivist proto romantic virtue which claims no purchase on things as they are where sentimental vocabulary persists in a worldly context it becomes divorced from a vocabulary of moral virtue it is overlaid with a french usage where sentiment and sensibility describe exquisite emotion rather than refined and cultivated virtue changing sentiments and the magdalen hospital registers the fracturing and shifting ground of sentimental discourse in the changing institutional practise of the magdalen institution most particularly in its increasingly embrace of evangelical religion situates changes in the nature of money and the rise of sophisticated financial structures at the centre of the enlightenment this work argues that paper credit instruments were causal critical to the larger epistemological and psychological changes associated with the enlightenment s reconstruction of value
