geet govinda is a lyrical sanskrit poem of the 12th century composed by jaideva it contains 12 cantos that have 24 eight stanzas of ashtapadis which deal with the love plays of the dark lord kirshna and his fair beloved radha on religion and culture of orissa india this encyclopaedia has been compiled and edited to include different aspects of indian tribes this includes comprehensive account of the socio cultural profile and development programme of tribes of india an attempt has been made to include most of the tribes from the different states of india unlike the tribes of north central and south america who were distinct population groups in terms of culture race and religion than the invading white communities of european nations indian tribes were no different than the other communities of the same geographic regions of the subcontinent however indian tribes are comparatively small in number economically extremely backward scattered and isolated but culturally they are in no way inferior to any one possessing high traditions honesty solidarity and self lessness in fact the hindu culture owes greatly of the tribal culture of india this encyclopaedia will be much useful to students teachers and scholars studying indian tribes in india and abroad comprehensive view of the people cultural history and economy of rajasthan revised version of seminar papers and contributed articles jackson s new book looks at the life and songs of annamacharya purandaradasa and kanakadasa it provides biographical and critical essays on the singer saints along with fresh translations of their songs and general introduction and an essay on bhakti literature india is a civilisation of many images a culture of many visual feasts a tradition where the visible and the palpable are as important as the oral and the occurrent where our highest truths are embodied in our kathas and gathas our songs and stories where our temples are not only places of worship but equally a gallery of beautiful forms and figures where myth is as important as doctrine where ancient memories are full of cherished narratives where mythic beings are real in many different ways and we enrich our lives by festivals which celebrate events from the lives of our mythic gods and goddesses and where knowledge is gained as much from itinerant performers as it is from learned discourses and where when the wind blows through the pipal tree it is as if we hear the hymns of the vedas harsha v dehejia presents in this book selected myths and symbols from the hindu tradition and offers a refreshingly different aesthetic and non theistic analysis and shows how these mythic narratives and visual symbols are an alternative form of knowledge the essays are richly illustrated with paintings and objects from his personal collection the essays collected here provide fascination glimpses into the maratha region and its people its history traditions and transitions and will prove essential reading for anyone interested in contemporary social history ethnography and sociology of modern india
