architects draw for a variety of purposes they draw to assimilate places and precedents to generate ideas to develop a concept into a consistent project in a team to communicate ideas and solutions to patrons and clients and to guide building contractors during the construction stages as well as to produce further elaborations in order to publish their project in a treatise a journal or their own portfolio most importantly architects draw to think and to manage complexity in a visual way by taking into account innovative and interdisciplinary uses of architectural drawing in the design process both historical and current the collection of chapters and interviews in this book frames a new critical perspective and a uniquely contextual appreciation of drawing as a way to encourage spatial thinking and practice in architecture and urbanism the authors take the discussion to a new level of philosophical sophistication while also considering drawing in relation to a series of specific engagements with urban development planning and architecture the discipline of urban design is undergoing a rapid expansion and realignment it is experiencing a shift from a profession dominated by architects and planners directed at urban development to a more expansive set of practices engaging new forms of social and environmental ecologies as cities worldwide adapt to economic restructuring mass migrations and climate change bringing together classic and new texts from the last 40 years this ad reader focuses attention on the critical tools needed to understand how cities have been designed and constructed and then changed over time this enables new ways of envisioning how cities must be conceived and adapted in the future to the dual conditions of rapid urbanisation and economic restructuring coupled with unpredictable environmental conditions due to climate change with its emphasis on both urban design and the ecological this book brings together key articles that point the way forward for reconciling the often conflicting concerns of urbanism and environmentalism twenty three texts are organised into four distinct sections covering metropolitan architecture the sprawling megalopolis the megacity and the recently emerging metacity these are broadly chronological and highlight the recent thinking behind some of the key urban developments ranging from the art of traditional city making covered by european architects and historians in the late 20th century to contemporary tokyo described by atelier bow wow features original texts from reyner banham rem koolhaas aldo rossi colin rowe david grahame shane bernard tschumi oswald mathias ungers and robert venturi denise scott
