both parties and interest groups matter to democracy historically examples of close relationships between the two abound but perhaps the best known because it was supposedly the most intimate and politically important is the relationship between left of centre parties and trade unions whether rooted in a shared history culture and ideology or more a marriage of convenience it is widely believed that their relationship helped socialist social democratic and labour parties win power and ensured the working class achieved huge gains in terms of full employment the welfare state and labour market regulation in the post war period in recent decades however it has been widely argued that the links between left of centre parties and trade unions have declined as their collaboration has become less mutually beneficial not least as a consequence of structural changes in the economy and labour market this volume interrogates qualifies and even challenges that widespread assumption based on a brand new dataset including organizational data gathered by a cross national team of experts it uncovers and explores what turns out to be considerable variation in the strength of contemporary organizational links between left of centre parties and unions in twelve different countries that have been democracies since at least the mid to late 1940 s testing a series of hypotheses on the importance and the impact of particular political systems and socio economic factors and on the costs and benefits for both parties and unions detailed qualitative and quantitative analysis suggests that left of centre party trade union links are stronger where trade unions are larger denser and more unified and where parties are less able to rely on the state to finance their organizational activities and electoral campaigns traditional partners that still have fairly strong links with each other seem to have greater incentives than others to maintain those links moreover it remains the case that the links between parties and unions matter in policy terms this is a directory of approximately 13 000 acronyms and abbreviations relating to africa including names of societies institutions associations movements government departments agencies ministries committees trade unions and commercial companies from the 19th century onwards which have been gathered from scholarly monographs and journal articles the acronyms and abbreviations are international in scope with many cross references as the eu enters an increasingly uncertain phase after the 2016 brexit referendum euroscepticism continues to become an increasingly embedded phenomenon within party systems non party groups and within the media yet academic literature has paid little attention to the emergence of and increased development of transnational and pan european networks of eu opposition as the gap between europe s mainstream political elites and an increasingly sceptical public has widened pan european spheres of opposition towards the eu have developed and evolved the volume sets out to explain how such an innately contradictory phenomenon as transnational euroscepticism has emerged it draws on a variety of perspectives and case studies in a number of spheres the european parliament political parties the media civil society and public opinion examining to what extent the pan european dimension of euroscepticism is becoming increasingly influential it argues that opposition to european integration has for too long been viewed somewhat narrowly through the paradigm of national party politics this text will be of key interest to scholars students and professionals in eu politics european studies political parties and more broadly to comparative politics and international relations this volume of the proceedings of the nineteenth session of the hague conference on private international law encompasses all preparatory work and records of meetings which led to the adoption of the hague convention on the law applicable to certain rights in respect of securities held with an intermediary the hague securities convention the signing of this convention on 5 july 2006 by two of the world s major financial markets the united states and switzerland shows the relevance of the new treaty traditional rules based on physical transfers and direct holdings are too diverse and inadequate to deal with securities which are nowadays transferred and pledged by electronic entries to accounts with clearing and settlement systems and other intermediaries by identifying specific conflict rules the hague securities convention provides a means to remedy this lack of legal certainty which has characterized for too long the field of security transactions the proceedings will enable the financial world but also legal practitioners and academics to grasp the background and full objectives of this very innovative international instrument
