this pioneering book explores the notion of radical decadence as concept aesthetic and lived experience and as an analytical framework for the study of contemporary feminist textile art gendered discourses of decadence that perpetuate anxieties about women's power consumption and pleasure are deconstructed through images of drug use female sexuality and excessive living in artworks by several contemporary textile artists including orly cogan tracey emin allyson mitchell and rozanne hawksley perceptions of decadence are invariably bound to the negative connotations of decay and degradation particularly with regard to the transgression of social norms related to femininity and the female body excessive consumption by women has historically been represented as grotesque and until now women's pleasure in relation to drug and alcohol use has largely gone unexamined in feminist art history and craft studies here representations of female consumption from cupcakes to alcohol and cocaine are opened up for critical discussion drawing on feminist and queer theories julia skelly considers portrayals of bad girls in artworks that explore female sexuality performative pieces designed to subvert and exceed feminine roles in this provocative book decadence is understood not as a destructive force but as a liberating aesthetic this book examines contemporary feminist visual activism's through the lens of embodiment's the contributors explore how the arts articulate and engage with the current sense of crisis and political concerns e.g. equality decolonisation social justice democracy precarity vulnerability negotiated with and through the body drawing upon the legacy of feminist art historical critique the book scrutinises activist strategies practices and resilience techniques in intersectional and transnational frameworks it interrogates how the arts enable the creation of civil and political resilience become engaged with politics as a response to disaster capitalism and attempt to reform and improve society the book will be of interest to scholars working in art history visual culture fine arts women's studies gender studies feminism and cultural studies crafting feminism develops a dynamic study of craft and art making in modern and contemporary feminist writing in evocative readings of literary works from virginia woolf to zadie smith this book expands our sense of transartistic modernist scholarship to encompass process oriented and medium specific analyses of textile arts digital design collage photography painting and sculpture in literary culture by integrating these craft practices into the book's enlightening archive elkins's theoretical argument extends a reading of craft metaphors into the material present crafting feminism demonstrates how writers have engaged with handiwork across generations and have undertaken the crafting of a new modernity one that is queer and feminist threaded messy shattered cut up pasted together preserved repaired reflected and spun out an avant garde work of scholarship this book interweaves queer research methods and interdisciplinary rigor with a series of surprising archival discoveries making visible the collaborative creative features of craft elkins captivates readers with generous illustrations and a series of techne interchapters interludes between longer chapters which powerfully convey the symbiosis between feminist theory and method and detail the network of archival influences that underpin this volume s hybrid approach foregrounding the work of decentering patriarchal and eurocentric legacies of artistic authority elkins champions the diverse intergenerational history of craft as a way to reposition intersectional makers at the heart of literary culture an original and compelling study crafting feminism breaks new ground in modernist and visual studies digital humanities and feminist queer and critical race theory in a time of one s own catherine grant examines how contemporary feminist artists are turning to broad histories of feminism ranging from political organizing and artworks from the 1970s to queer art and activism in the 1990s exploring artworks from 2002 to 2017 by artists including sharon hayes mary kelly allyson mitchell deirdre logue lubaina himid pauline boudry and renate lorenz grant maps a revival of feminism that takes up the creative and political implications of forging feminist communities across time and space grant characterizes these artists engagement with feminism as a fannish autodidactic and collective form of learning from history this fandom of feminism allows artists to build relationships with previous feminist ideas artworks and communities that reject a generational model and embrace aspects of feminism that might be seen as embarrassing queer or anachronistic accounting for the growing interest in feminist art politics and ideas across generations grant demonstrates that for many contemporary feminist artists the present moment can only be understood through an embodied engagement with history in which feminist pasts are rehabited and reimagined
