this sourcebook combines all the essential poems with key extracts from eavan boland's prose works including the classic object lessons from 1995

this book demonstrates the legacies of romanticism which animate the poetry and poetics of eavan boland gillian clarke john burnsides and kathleen jamie it argues that the english romantic tradition serves as a source of inspiration and critical contention for these irish welsh and scottish poets and it relates this engagement to wider concerns with gender nation and nature which have shaped contemporary poetry in britain and ireland covering a substantial number of works from the 1980s to the 2010s the book discusses how boland and clarke as women poets from the republic of ireland and wales react to a male dominated and anglocentric lyric tradition and thus rework notions of the romantic it examines how burnsides and jamie challenge adopt and revise romantic aesthetics of nature and environment the book is the first in depth study to read boland clarke burnsides and jamie as post romantics by disentangling the aesthetic and critical conceptions of romanticism which inform their inheritance it develops an innovative approach to the understanding of contemporary poetry and literary influence after a decade in which women writers have gradually been given more recognition in the study of irish literature this collection proposes a reappraisal of irish women s writing by inviting dialogues with new or hitherto marginalised critical frameworks as well as with foreign and transnational literary traditions several essays explore how irish women writers engaged with european themes and traditions through the genres of travel writing the historical novel the monologue and the fairy tale other contributions are concerned with the british context in which some texts were published and argue for the existence of irish inflections of phenomena such as the new woman suffragism or vegetarianism further chapters emphasise the transnational character of irish women s writing by applying continental theory and french feminist thinking to various texts in other chapters new developments in theory are applied to irish texts for the first time casting the efforts of irish women in a new light the collection also includes explorations of the work of neglected or emerging authors who have remained comparatively ignored by irish literary criticism in this powerful and authoritative study jody allen randolph provides the fullest account yet of the work of a major figure in twentieth century irish literature as well as in contemporary women s writing eavan boland s achievement in changing the map of irish poetry is tracked and analyzed from her first poems to the present the book traces the evolution of that achievement guiding the reader through boland s early attachment to yeats her growing unease with the absence of women s writing her encounter with pioneering american poets like sylvia plath elizabeth bishop and adrienne rich and her eventual challenging amendments in poetry and prose to ireland s poetic tradition using research from private papers the book also traces a time of upheaval and change in ireland exploring boland s connection to mary robinson in a chapter that details the nexus of a woman president and a woman poet in a country that was resistant to both finally this book invites the reader to share a compelling perspective on the growth of a poet described by one critic as ireland s first great woman poet
