why is reality television flourishing in today s expanding media market religion and reality tv faith in late capitalism argues that the reality genre offers answers to many of life s urgent questions why am i important what gives my life meaning how do i present my best self to the world case studies address these questions by examining religious representations through late capitalist lenses including the maintenance of the self the commodification of the sacred and the performance of authenticity the book's fourteen essays explore why religious themes proliferate in reality tv audiences' fascination with lived religion and the economics that make religion and reality tv a successful pairing. Chapters also consider the role of race, gender, and religion in the production and reception of programming. Religion and Reality tv provides a framework for understanding the intersection of celebrity, media, attention, beliefs, and values. The book will be of interest to students and scholars of religion and media studies, communication, American studies, and popular culture.

Material for Bible study groups, teachers, preachers, etc. covering subjects such as: mindset, truth, spiritual realities, certainty, sin, error, temptation, inner person, realm of thought, mental modeling, limitations of science and religion, science and ethics, religion and science built on faith, religion and science useful, who am I, God, Gospel, social Gospel, conscience, salvation, future, and a Christian.

a synthesis of current thinking on Christology

Everyone asks the big questions: Does God exist? Can God be identified? How can I know? The barrage of claims can confuse the most diligent inquirer. Reality of the Christian Faith is about the only book that goes through the whole spectrum of questions, step by step: God's existence, evolution, relativism, pluralism, and a unique method of comparing the 5 great world religions: Hinduism, Islam, Buddhism, Judaism, and Christianity. The information is clear and credible, and the arguments are lucid and compelling. They have been tested and tried at various intellectual levels over decades. The conclusions, even if not believed, are difficult to overturn and provide a stable mental base and true hope in a hopeless world. Subodh K. Pandit, MD, a specialist in internal medicine, was born and brought up in India. In the USA, he taught in the Department of Internal Medicine, University of Oklahoma, as an assistant professor. He then worked as an ER physician until his retirement. One of his great interests was in the metaphysical questions relating to God and belief systems. Years of personal study resulted in the formation of a stepwise series of concepts that allowed a rational inquirer to progress from the basic notion of the existence of God all the way to the sturdy foundation provided by the claims of Christianity. He remains active in engaging those who sincerely seek for answers to the big metaphysical questions of today. He runs live seminars worldwide, has been on multiple TV programs, and has been interviewed on multiple radio stations internationally. He has three adult children and resides in Maryland, USA.

the mystery of being contains the most systematic exposition of the philosophical thought of gabriel marcel a convert to catholicism and the most distinguished twentieth century exponent of christian existentialism its two volumes are the gifford lectures which marcel delivered in aberdeen scotland in 1949 and 1950 marcel s work fundamentally challenges most of the major positions of the atheistic existentialists sartre beauvoir camus especially their belief in an absurd meaningless godless universe these volumes deal with almost all of the major themes of marcel s thought the nature of philosophy our broken world man s deep ontological need for being i e for permanent eternal values our incarnate bodily existence primary and secondary reflection participation being in situation the identity of the human self intersubjectivity mystery and problem faith hope and the reality of god and immortality the author invites us to look afresh at christianity in the context of modern physics on the one hand and eastern mysticism on the other scientists now acknowledge that quantitative enquiry can reveal only one aspect of reality and to come to terms with a much deeper transcendent reality we must also be prepared to learn from eastern traditions the western machanistic model of the universe dating from the time of galileo and newton must now be replaced with a new organic model this marks a return to the ancient traditional wisdom in which the universe was seen to consist not only of a physical dimension but also of psychological and spiritual dimensions all of which are interrelated and interdependent in exploring the divine mystery behind human life the author seeks to discover the basic unity which underlies all religion and discusses the concept of the cosmic person or cosmic lord as revealed in christianity hinduism buddhism and islam he concludes that a radical vision of a new society and a universal religion in which the essential values of christianity will be preserved in living relationship with the other religious traditions of the world excerpt from the reality of religion amid the strife of systems and the war of words our souls are thirsting for the living god we long to find and know him to touch him with the outstretched hands of faith and love to feel him drawing near to us and filling the dry cisterns of our lives with the sweet clear waters of divine communion even as one who has wandered long 111 the desert yearns and pants for the flowing spring so our heart and flesh cry out for god about the publisher forgotten books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books find more at forgottenbooks.com this book is a reproduction of an important historical work forgotten books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy in rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition we do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works is god just a distant concept an award winning religion correspondent is convinced the answer is no and explores the possible relationship with our creator fox news religion correspondent lauren green uses her wealth of stories vast network of contacts and her own extensive study of theology to take the reader on a unique journey of spiritual discovery with few female authors writing in the field of theology green provides an important perspective to all who wish to move closer to not only a deeper relationship with god but an understanding of what makes that possible green gathers insight from some amazing guides along the way through personal conversations with some of the leading minds in the world on the topic of christianity these include timothy keller john piper alister mcgrath william lane craig john lennox sir john polkinghorne amy beckman elizabeth lev and many more is god simply an accessory that we carry with us something similar to what we might download from a music site to suit our personal tastes a personal assistant in a way or is he his law his structure and his authoritative word contained in the holy scripture an objective reality to which you daily shape your life if we believe or know we should believe that it is the latter how do we make this happen how do we live joyfully under god's will in a world so drenched in the will of human desire lighthouse faith explores the heart of the christian doctrine and a pathway of perceiving god as an interactive hands on presence a caring and loving being the first commandment is a life giving force loaded with information about the world in which we live this law stands atop the other nine commandments as a beacon of light illuminating the created order just as a lighthouse lamp shines in a darkened space heralding a way to safety scientists historians philosophers and theologians often engage in debates on the limitations and mutual interactions of their respective fields of study serious discussions are often overshadowed by the mass produced popular and semi popular literature on science and religion as well as by the political agendas of many of the actors in these debates for some reducing religion and science to forms of social discourse is a possible way out from epistemological overlapping between them yet is there room for religious faith only when science dissolves into one form of social discourse the religion thus rescued would have neither rational legitimisation nor metaphysical validity but if both scientific and religious theories try to make absolute claims on all possible aspects of reality then conflict between them seems almost inevitable in this book leading authors in the field of science and religion including william carroll steve fuller karl giberson and roger trigg highlight the oft neglected and profound philosophical foundations that underlie some of the most frequent questions at the boundary between science and religion the reality of knowledge and the notions of creation life and design in tune with mariano artigas's work the authors emphasise that these are neither religious nor scientific but serious philosophical questions
