I Understanding the Fundamentals Beyond the Score Educational assessment is more than just assigning grades its a multifaceted process aimed at understanding student learning informing instruction and evaluating the effectiveness of educational programs Think doctors checkup a single blood pressure reading isnt the whole picture a comprehensive assessment including various tests and observations is necessary for a complete diagnosis A Types of Assessments Formative Assessments These are ongoing lowstakes assessments used to monitor student learning during the instructional process Examples include quizzes exit tickets class discussions observation checklists Think of them as checkups along the way allowing teachers to adjust their teaching based on student understanding Summative Assessments These are highstakes assessments used to evaluate student learning at the end of an instructional unit or course Examples include unit tests final exams and standardized tests They provide a snapshot of overall learning akin to a final report card NormReferenced Tests These compare a students performance to the performance of a larger group the norm group Standardized achievement tests often fall into this category The focus is on relative standing not absolute mastery Imagine a race the winner is determined by relative speed not by achieving a specific time

CriterionReferenced Tests

These assess a students performance against a predetermined 2 standard or criterion A driving test is a good example you either meet the criteria or you dont regardless of how others perform This focuses on absolute mastery

B Key Considerations in Test Design

Effective assessments must be valid reliable and fair

Validity

Does the test measure what it intends to measure If a test on algebra skills includes questions on history it lacks content validity

Reliability

Does the test produce consistent results A reliable test will yield similar scores if administered repeatedly under similar conditions Think of a reliable scale it consistently shows the same weight for the same object

Fairness

Does the test provide equal opportunities for all students to demonstrate their knowledge and skills Bias in test content or administration can compromise fairness
