it was the first of may the marriage day of the viscount montessor of montessor castle dorsetshire and estelle only daughter and heiress of sir parke morelle hyde hall devonshire a glorious morning the cloudless blue sky smiled down upon the green hills and dewy dales and deep woods of devon and the park around the hall was all alive and musical with the joyous songs of birds and the merry laughter of young men and maidens gathering to celebrate their may day festival and to do honor to the marriage of their landlord's daughter the elm shaded winding avenue that led from the highway to the house was arched at each terminus by a mammoth wreath of flowers and many were the carriages that passed under them on their way to assist at the wedding and these contained only the bridesmaids and the nearest friends and relatives of the family whose relationship or position gave them the right to attend the bride to church – for a still more numerous party had been invited to meet her at the altar the villagers and tenants grouped about under the shade of the great old trees or wandering over the greensward on either side of the grand avenue watched these equipages as they rolled on commenting – as usual – ‘that is sir william welworth's carriage – he is the bride's uncle by her mother’ – ‘who don't know that – hush my eyes lend me a rummerrell joe or i shall be dazed blind along o – looking at this turn out whose is it since you know everything’ – ‘that – that's lord dazzleright's – the great cove's as made a fortune and riz by the law – not at a rope's end though as you'll rise one of these days bill my lad if you don't keep out o – the squire's preserves – but by reading and pleading and keeping on the right do you see of the powers that be until he got himself made a baron of – which people do say he'll get upon the woolsack yet’ – replied the gamekeeper joe as the splendid equipage of the new member of the house of peers dashed past them – ‘yes but what does he do here’ – inquired the laborer bill – ‘he's the god father of the bride you know besides being a bachelor without children i mean sons and heirs’ – ‘here comes somethin' like a huss – my granny how solemncolly who's comin' to a funeral’ – ‘oh let me see – that why that's the carriage of the old duchess of graveminstre the grand aunt of lady morelle she was expected at the hall yesterday something must o – stopped her’ – said joe as a large sombre dark colored traveling carriage lumbered heavily past – ‘what o'clock is it mr joe you're a weatherwise and you can tell’ – inquired a young girl leaving a group of maidens and joining the two men – ‘what o'clock my dear Ó replied the gamekeeper looking up at the sun with an air of confidence Òwell i should say it was just about a quarter to ten Ó ÒohÑdear me and the weddingers won't pass till nearly twelve and here we are to wait two mortal hours and i want to be away at the maypole so much Ó Òhush my darling look here comes his lordship's carriage itself just as sure as you're the prettiest lass in the country Ó whispered the gamekeeper as a very plain but handsome traveling carriage of dark green drawn by a pair of spirited grey horses rolled on up the avenue toward the hall Òwhose lordship's what are you thinking about mr joseph Ó asked the little maiden fretfully Òwhy his lordship's the lorship'sÑthe only lordship to be thought about now my dear lord montessor'slordship Ó Ònow that's impossible mr joseph if you be gamekeeper you sha'n't make game of me at that rate lord montessor marry come up what should he of all men be doing here at this of all hours Ó Òcome up to marry i suppose anyhow it is he Ó Ònonsense it can't be i tell you it would be out of all manners don't i know he's to bring all his groomsmen and his friends and relations to the church and wait there for miss morelle and her friends and relations that'smanners Ó
