pedro dorado montero was one of spain s most relevant authors he contributed to modern criminal law and penology with a very unique theory the protective law for criminals in a time when neoclassical penal theories and new positivist theories clashed dorado montero s proposal served as a bridge between the criminal law conceptions of the 19th and 20th centuries in order to explore his role in the introduction of positivism within spain and the subsequent success of this trend this book addresses several aspects the first three analyzed are his scholarly career the historical and international context in which he lived and the various european and other international influences he was exposed to on this basis two major points are then discussed firstly dorado montero has been traditionally included within the movement known as correccionalismo however his legal philosophical and criminal thought indicates otherwise it seems to lie closer to positivism than to neoclassical positions this research aims at challenging the accuracy of the eclectic label which traditional historiography has applied to him in turn dorado montero described a reality in which every moral value and legal representation was a mere product of mankind s imagination man is responsible for the elaboration of morals law and culture in his own mind thus for him there were as many moral and legal orders as there were human beings on the planet such a claim is polemic even today unsurprisingly the author received criticism from both neoclassical and positivist schools thus the existence of a doradian positivism is explored despite the growing interest in these topics over the last few decades dorado montero has somehow been overlooked even though his derecho protector de los criminales described the criminal law of the future as well
