the adoption of the declaration on the rights of indigenous peoples by the united nations general assembly on 13 september 2007 was acclaimed as a major success for the united nations system given the extent to which it consolidates and develops the international corpus of indigenous rights this is the first in depth academic analysis of this far reaching instrument indigenous representatives have argued that the rights contained in the declaration and the processes by which it was formulated obligate affected states to accept the validity of its provisions and its interpretation of contested concepts such as culture land ownership and self determination this edited collection contains essays written by the main protagonists in the development of the declaration indigenous representatives and field leading academics it offers a comprehensive institutional thematic and regional analysis of the declaration in particular it explores the declaration s normative resonance for international law and considers the ways in which this international instrument could catalyse institutional action and influence the development of national laws and policies on indigenous issues ronnie lessem and alexander schieffer s integral green society and economy series has three overarching aims the first is to link together two major movements of our time one philosophical the other practical the philosophical movement is towards what many today are calling an integral age while the practical is the green movement duly aligned with that of sustainable development the second is to blend together elements of nature and community culture and spirituality science and technology politics and economics thus serving to bring about an integral green vision albeit with a focus on business and economics as such the authors transcend the limitations to sustainable development and environmental economics which are overly ecological if not also technological in orientation and exclude social and cultural elements thirdly this particular volume with darja piciga focuses specifically on slovenia as well as on europe generally drawing on the particular issues and capacities that this country and continent represents particularly for sustainable development and social knowledge based economy the emphasis on slovenia arose not only because it lies at the heart of europe but because a specific movement for an integral green slovenian society and economy has been co evolved there by the three editors in conjunction with slovene organisations communities and movements with a view to integrating existing and emerging knowledge resources initiatives and practices into a model as an alternative to austerity for slovenia and other european countries
