i let somebody call me nigger it wasn't just any old body either it was my friend that really hurt amitiyah elayne hyman martin luther king jr dreamed of a day when black children were judged not by the color of their skin but by the content of their character his eloquent charge became the single greatest inspiration for the achievement of racial justice in america in her powerful fourth book in the children of conflict series laurel holliday explores how far we have come as she presents thirty eight african americans who share their experiences as children of the dream i was brought up with white barbie dolls of impossible proportions and long silky blonde hair neither of which i possessed as a child i believed what i was taught and i wasn't taught to love myself for who i am an african american charisse nesbit the unforgettable people we hear from are young and old rich and poor from inner cities suburbia and rural america in chronicles that are highly personal funny tragic and triumphant the contributors tell us what it is like coming of age stigmatized by the color of their skin yet proud of their heritage and culture their voices their courage their resilience and their understanding offer hope for us all bennett alexander and hartman's employment law for business 7 e addresses law and employment decisions from a managerial perspective it is intended to instruct students on how to manage effectively and efficiently with full comprehension of the legal ramifications of their decisions students are shown how to analyze employment law facts using concrete examples of management related legal dilemmas that do not present clear cut solutions the methods of arriving at resolutions are emphasized so that when the facts of the workplace problem are not quite the same the student can still reach a good decision based on the legal considerations required by law which remain relevant hartman desjardins business ethics is designed to prepare the student to apply an ethical decision making model not only in this ethics course but throughout her or his business discipline this model teaches students ethical skills vocabulary and tools to apply in everyday business decisions and throughout their business courses the authors speak in a sophisticated yet accessible manner while teaching the fundamentals of business ethics hartman's professional background in law and her teaching experience in business curriculum combined with desjardins background in philosophy results in a broad language ideal for this approach and market the authors goal is to engage the student by focusing on cases and business scenarios that students already find interesting students are then asked to look at the issues from an ethical perspective additionally its focus on aacsb requirements makes it a comprehensive business ethics text for business school courses whereas the past decades have seen a profound reconsideration of eighteenth century visual culture the architecture of that century has undergone little evaluation its study unlike that of the early modern period or the twentieth century has continued to use essentially the same methods and ideas over the last fifty years articulating british classicism reconsiders the traditional historiography of british eighteenth century architecture as it was shaped after world war ii and brings together for the first time a variety of new perspectives on british classicism in the period drawing on current thinking about the eighteenth century from a range of disciplines the book examines such topics as social and gender identities colonialization and commercialization notions of the rural urban and suburban as well as issues of theory and historiography canonical constructions of georgian architecture are explored including current evaluations of the continental intellectual background the relationship with mid seventeenth century stuart court classicism and the development of the subject in the twentieth century to observers of the iran israel conflict its vitriolic rhetoric might suggest an ancient hatred between jews and muslims a biblical feud dating back hundreds or thousands of years but this rivalry is a far more modern development in this authoritative study jonathan g leslie examines the origins of the conflict drawing on extensive archival and open source research he concludes that despite the animosity surrounding the iran israel relationship the twenty first century s hostilities are not inevitable consequences of these nations history nor of contemporary political events the intensification of tensions has been largely the product of one nation s efforts with israel viewing iran as a far greater danger than iran does israel using a novel theoretical approach considering the power of narrative within historical context leslie outlines how israel s leaders successfully reimagined their erstwhile ally iran as an existential threat former prime minister benjamin netanyahu took this further employing populist strategies in an attempt to rewrite history depict iran as a global menace and recruit allies against the jcpoa nuclear deal fear and insecurity provides important new insights into the history of the iran israel conflict and offers fresh prospects for defusing the tensions threatening both global and regional security
