this book instructively introduces the reader to the basics of jewish law it gives a detailed cutting edge analysis of contemporary public and private law in the state of israel as well as israel s legal culture its system of government and the roles of its democratic institutions the executive parliament and judiciary the book examines issues of holocaust law and religion constitutionalization and equality nearly all countries have ratified nearly all the major human rights treaties and all governments profess support for human rights yet most countries flagrantly violate the human rights of their citizens this book argues that the reason why is that there is a contradiction between the goal of enforcing human rights which requires simple rules and the realities of governance which require flexibility and discretion culture and religion are overlapping phenomena cultures are normally understood to subsume religions and religions are very often central to cultures the two are particularly closely associated when we focus on the kinds of difference that generate issues for public policy the world has always been culturally and religiously diverse but recent movements of population have intensified the internal diversity of societies that increased diversity has presented societies with a number of pressing questions how much should cultural differences matter can they and should they be treated impartially should they receive equal recognition and what sort of recognition might that be are cultural and religious differences at odds with human rights thinking or do universal human rights demand respect for those differences when the demands of a religious faith clash with those of a society's rules which should take precedence should the religious have to endure whatever burdens their beliefs bring their way or should they be accommodated so that their religious faith does not become a source of social disadvantage should they have to put up with unwelcome treatments of their beliefs or should they be protected from the offensive and the disrespectful these are some of the many issues examined in culture religion and rights the new israel peacemaking and liberalization argues that the ongoing israeli palestinian peace process will be expedited by increased economic liberalization israel has undergone dramatic economic change in the 1990s shifting from a strongly protectionist state centered economy to a more international neoliberal one the book maintains that these fundamental changes have in turn transformed israeli society as a whole resulting in a significant moderation of attitudes toward the palestinian people and palestinian nationalism the new israel contains contributions from both established israeli sociologists and promising young scholars the new israel peacemaking and liberalization is an insightful commentary on one of the most crucial international issues of our time this textbook provides a thorough and systematic overview of human rights law including the most relevant practice and case law but also dealing with theoretical issues it pursues an original approach seeking to reconcile its didactic purpose with a scientific one positing that there must be a necessary synergy between these two purposes furthermore the author is convinced that international human rights law should not be studied as is done in virtually every textbook as a special legal regime separate and autonomous from the overall system of international law but as a regime that is fully integrated into the international legal order the book's dominant theme is the interrelationship of international human rights law and general international law following this approach the author has chosen to devote comparatively little content to institutional issues part iv and to instead more intensively explore the structural impact of human rights law on the entire international order part i on the sources part ii and obligations part iii of general international law and what constitutes fundamental human rights part v without neglecting other rights part vi
