contemporary futurist thought describes recent thinking about the future dealing with both the hopes and the fears expressed in modern times concerning what potentially lies ahead there are many such hopes and fears perhaps an overpowering number competing with each other and swirling about in the collective mind of humanity psychologist and futurist tom lombardo describes this mental universe of inspiring dreams and threatening premonitions regarding the future the book begins with an in depth examination of the highly influential literary genre of science fiction which dr lombardo identifies as the mythology of the future he next describes the modern academic discipline of future studies which attempts to apply scientific methods and principles to an understanding of the future social and technological trends in the twentieth century are then reviewed setting the stage for an analysis of the great contemporary transformation occurring in our present world given the powerful and pervasive changes taking place across the globe and throughout all aspects of human life the questions arise where are we potentially heading and perhaps more importantly where should we be heading the final chapter provides an extensive review of different answers to these questions describing theories and approaches that highlight science technology culture human psychology and religion among other areas of focus as well as integrative views which attempt to provide big pictures of all aspects of human life the book provides a rich and broad overview of contemporary ideas and visions about the future in the conclusion dr lombardo assesses and synthesizes these myriad perspectives proposing a set of key ideas central to understanding the future this book completes the study of future consciousness begun in its companion volume the evolution of future consciousness these two volumes rich in historical detail and concise observations on the interrelatedness of a wide range of interdisciplinary topics are a significant contribution to the field of future studies and a valuable resource for educators consultants and anyone wishing to explore the significance of thinking about the future thinking about the future is essential for almost all organizations and societies states corporations universities cities ngos and individuals believe they cannot miss the future but what exactly is the future it remains a mystery perhaps the greatest mystery especially because futures are unpredictable and often unknowable the outcome of many factors known and unknown the future is rarely a simple extrapolation from the present in this important book john urry seeks to capture the many efforts that have been made to anticipate visualize and elaborate the future this includes examining the methods used to model the future from those of the rand corporation to imagined future worlds in philosophy literature art film tv and computer games he shows that futures are often contested and saturated with different interests especially in relation to future generations he also shows how analyses of social institutions practices and lives should be central to examining potential futures and issues such as who owns the future the future seems to be characterized by wicked problems there are multiple causes and solutions long term lock ins and complex interdependencies and different social groups have radically different frames for understanding what is at stake urry explores these issues through case studies of 3d printing and the future of manufacturing mobilities in the city and the futures of energy and climate change from the beginning of time humans have been driven by both a fear of the unknown and a curiosity to know we have always yearned to know what lies ahead whether threat or safety scarcity or abundance throughout human history our forebears tried to create certainty in the unknown by seeking to influence outcomes with sacrifices to gods preparing for the unexpected with advice from oracles and by reading the stars through astrology as scientific methods improve and computer technology develops we become ever more confident of our capacity to predict and quantify the future by accumulating and interpreting patterns from the past yet the truth is there is still no certainty to be had in this very short introduction jennifer gidley considers some of our most burning questions what is the future is the future a time yet to come or is it a utopian place does the future have a history is there only one future or are there many possible futures she asks if the future can ever be truly predicted or if we create our own futures both hoped for and feared by our thoughts feelings and actions and concludes by analysing how we can learn to study the future about the series the very short introductions series from oxford university press contains hundreds of titles in almost every subject area these pocket sized books are the perfect way to get ahead in a new subject quickly our expert authors combine facts analysis perspective new ideas and enthusiasm to make interesting and challenging topics highly readable responsible management of shifts in work modes values for post pandemic sustainability volume 2 explores ethical leadership people management resilience and the management of consequences for business and healthcare systems a fast adventism as much as a hypertrophic body is not necessarily more performant faster and bigger are not necessarily synonyms of health or flourishing in order for somebody or something to flourish it may be necessary to recover incompleteness vulnerability and slowness as necessary and primordial conditions for becoming human full and plethoric entities are inappropriate and unprepared to flourish because they are not touched by a beneficial emptiness that is essential for surviving and entering into relation as much as persuasive and touching melodies presuppose and include silence and pauses so healthy beings are not plethoric but intermittent and interrupted entities they are reasonable beings who have learned to perceive life s systole and diastole as mechanism that support life in its contractions and expansions in its affirmation and flexibility in its giving and receiving in the context of the multiple relationships that life offers and demands from us
