until now there hasn't been one single volume authoritative reference work on the history of women in film highlighting nearly every woman filmmaker from the dawn of cinema including Alice Guy, France 1896, Chantal Akerman, Belgium, Penny Marshall, U.S. and Sally Potter, U.K. Every effort has been made to include every kind of woman filmmaker, commercial and mainstream, avant-garde and minority, and to give a complete cross-section of the work of these remarkable women. Scholars and students of film, popular culture, women's studies, and international studies, as well as film buffs, will learn much from this work. The dictionary covers the careers of nearly 200 women filmmakers, giving vital statistics where available, listings of films directed by these women, and selected bibliographies for further reading. This is a one-volume, one-stop resource, a comprehensive up-to-date guide that is absolutely essential for any course offering an overview or survey of women's cinema. It offers not only all available statistics but critical evaluations of the filmmakers' work as well. In order to keep the length manageable, this volume focuses on women who direct fictional narrative films, with occasional forays into the area of the documentary, and is limited to film production rather than video production.

At Odds in the World: Essays on Jewish Canadian Women Writers brings together a series of essays by Ruth Panofsky that probe the articulation of Jewishness and femaleness through the lens of literature, showing how female Jewish identity is constructed in Canadian prose works that span the years 1956 to 2004. Collectively, the essays speak to the writers' preoccupation with cultural identity and unearth a literary portrait of how it feels to be Jewish Canadian and female in a world both new and old that often is hostile and unaccommodating. Seven authors are represented here: Miriam Waddington, Adele Wiseman, Helen Weinzwieg, Fredelle Bruser, Maynard and her daughter Joyce Maynard, Nora Gold, and Lilian Nattel. Each writer seeks to investigate the intersecting complexities of her identity as a Canadian, a Jew, and a woman, as well as to critique prevailing notions of Canada as a country that embraces people of all faiths, of Judaism as open to female participation, and of Jewish women as submissive within marriage.
