the power to control litigation in the company s name is normally vested in the board of directors this gives rise to a conflict of interest whenever some or all of the directors breach their duties in such a situation the board s decision whether or not to litigate is potentially tainted because the wrongdoers are part of the decision making process the board as a whole is therefore an unsuitable decision making body and the following question arises who should decide whether it is in the company s interest to initiate litigation against the alleged wrongdoers there are a number of different persons and bodies in which the decision making power could be vested the british approach is the reversion of management power to the shareholders in general meeting and in certain restricted situations the availability of the derivative action brought by a shareholder on behalf of the company both mechanisms give rise to significant difficulties this book begins by explaining the board s conflict of interest sets out a theoretical framework of legal strategies that cover the whole range of approaches to deal with it and analyses their strengths and weaknesses the analysis consists of an assessment and comparison of four models of the enforcement of directors duties which are based on the current law and reform proposals in britain and germany particular reference is made to recent case law and its practical implications
