john leighton stuart who was born and brought up in hangchow china where both his father and mother were leading missionaries tells us that in his boyhood he always had an aversion for missionary life even after his graduation from hampden sydney college he still confessed his lack of enthusiasm for missionary service it is difficult to exaggerate the aversion i had developed against going to china as a missionary haranguing crowds of idle curious people in street chapels or temple fairs selling tracts for almost nothing being regarded with amused or angry contempt by the native population physical discomforts or hardships etc no chance for intellectual or studious interests a sort of living death or modern equivalent for retirement from the world but after prolonged inner struggle dr stuart finally decided to put my religious belief to what was for me then the ultimate test he became a missionary to china and as such lived and worked in china for nearly half a century
