in april of 1944 during the last year of world war ii and two months before the d day landings at normandy paul n frenkel was a fourteen year old living happily with his family in the rural transylvanian town of hadad hungary suddenly without explanation or justification the family was rounded up with other hungarian jews confined in a factory yard and then herded into cattle cars and shipped off to auschwitz in life reclaimed frenkel narrates the story of his life his prewar idyllic childhood in the foothills of the carpathian mountains his survival in four nazi camps as a young teenager the loss of his parents and most of his relatives in nazi hell his daring escape from the death march out of berga elster camp and his ultimate success as an entrepreneurial business executive and devoted family man in america a story of endurance courage and hope life reclaimed represents frenkel's determined ongoing efforts to come to grips with his world war ii experience why his family and the other hungarian jews failed to realize their dire peril from the nazis why their transylvanian neighbors and friends actively collaborated with the nazis or passively abandoned their jewish colleagues to arrest enslavement and death and why this dark past continues to haunt his life and burden his thoughts one woman's powerful journey from independence into a marriage paralyzed by the grip of domestic violence and back again to a life of hope and wholeness like so many women i wanted a home children a loving husband and a pet when life didn't work out the way i hoped by the time i was 30 i started to panic i was actively looking for love when i met a man who would ultimately change my life and the lives of those closest to me this story has a happy ending unfortunately not all victims of domestic violence are so fortunate there are steps you can take to free yourself or help free someone you know through my story you'll find out how you will walk away with a better understanding of how someone can lose everything to an abuser and when she is ready reclaim her life what would ever make a woman stay in an abusive marriage or relationship a lot of things among them shame and fear shame of leaving shame of failure fear of your most personal marital details becoming public in a divorce proceeding and fear of suffering socially or financially by a divorce for some there's a fear of being alone if you're unable to understand this be thankful but also be careful prior to my marriage to the pastor i would never have tolerated anyone treating me this way reba d from the celebrated historian of nazi germany the story of a remarkable but completely unsung group that risked everything to help the most vulnerable in the early 1920s amidst the upheaval of weimar germany a small group of peaceable idealists began to meet practicing a quiet communal life focused on self improvement for the most part they had come to know each other while attending adult education classes in the city of essen but the bund as they called their group had lofty aspirations under the direction of their leader artur jacobs its members hoped to forge an ideal community that would serve as a model for society at large but with the ascent of the nazis the bund was forced to reevaluate its mission focusing instead on offering assistance to the persecuted despite the great risk their activities ranged from visiting devastated jewish families after kristallnacht to sending illicit letters and parcels of food and clothes to deportees in concentration camps to sheltering political dissidents and jews on the run what became of this group and how should its deeds often small seemingly insignificant acts of kindness and assistance be evaluated in the broader history of life under the nazis drawing on a striking set of previously unpublished letters diaries gestapo reports other documents and his own interviews with survivors historian mark roseman shows how and why the bund undertook its dangerous work it is an extraordinary story in its own right but roseman takes us deeper encouraging us to rethink the concepts of resistance and rescue under the nazis ideas too often hijacked by popular notions of individual heroism or political idealism above all the bund s story is one that sheds new light on what it meant to offer a helping hand in this dark time as we approach the end of the era of the witness given the passing on of the generation of holocaust survivors claude lanzmann s archive of 220 hours of footage excluded from his ground breaking documentary shoah 1985 offers a remarkable opportunity to encounter previously unseen interviews with survivors and other witnesses recorded in the late 1970s although the archive is all available freely to view online and includes extra footage of those who appear in shoah this book focuses on the interviews from which no extracts appear in the finished film or in any subsequent release the material analysed features interviews with such significant figures as the former partisan abba kovner wartime activist hansi brand kovno ghetto leader leib garfunkel rescuer tadeusz pankiewicz and members of roosevelt s war refugee board and focuses throughout on the efforts at rescue and resistance by those within and outside occupied europe sue vice contends that watching and analysing this wholly excluded footage gives us new insights into the making of shoah through what was left out moreover she reveals that the near impossibility of rescue and often suicidal implications of resistance emerge through these excluded interviews as inextricable from the process of genocide she concludes by arguing that the outtakes show the potential for new filmic forms envisaged on lanzmann's part in order to represent the crucial topics of attempted holocaust rescue and resistance in a future where your genes are your currency humanity is gambling its future gleaming genetic banks have replaced financial institutions and individuals trade segments of their dna disease resistance enhanced strength even years of their lifespan for social status and economic advantage the sterile scent of progress masks the desperation of those forced to barter their very being silas vane a genetic bank operator witnesses the human cost of this new world order every day each transaction a mother sacrificing longevity for her child's intellect a young man trading empathy for ambition chips away at his soul but when silas uncovers a chilling truth buried within the bank's encrypted servers his unease transforms into full blown horror the seemingly individualistic trades are part of a sinister project orchestrated by a clandestine organization known as the architects the creation of a genetically engineered subspecies destined for interstellar colonization joined by dr kendra moss a brilliant geneticist haunted by her past complicity and elara hayes a resilient community leader fighting for the survival of the genetically disadvantaged silas embarks on a desperate race against time together they must expose the architects plan and prevent the irreversible fragmentation of humanity but their investigation leads silas to a devastating discovery his own dna holds a unique genetic marker crucial to the next phase of the architects plan he is no longer just an observer but an unwitting participant in the very system he is fighting against as they delve deeper silas and kendra confront a chilling question what does it truly mean to be human is it merely a collection of genes or is there something more something intangible that transcends the biological their fight for the future of humanity becomes a battle for the very essence of what it means to be human a struggle against those who believe they hold the right to redefine it the sterile halls of the genetic bank transform into a battleground the antiseptic air thick with the metallic tang of fear and determination the architects plan will rewrite the future the question is at what cost
