essay from the year 2013 in the subject theology biblical theology course biblical catechesis language english abstract christianity is not merely a set of religious principles it is a covenant in the same lines of the covenant of the people of israel for whom the decalogue the principles of their life was a testament in a similar fashion for a christian the holy bible is the testament of one s covenant with christ and the abba whom he revealed in the holy spirit rightly are its two parts called the old and the new testaments bible is the foundation of the faith experience of an individual who professes to be a christian and it is in itself the faith expression of generations of people whose faith the individual makes one s own however the place of this testament today within the faith expression of an individual or the community has undergone a long process of evolution in history within the christian community of the original times it was merely used by the elders or the priests during worship later it was used by those persons who sought to teach and guide the communities and individuals to instruct them from the examples and the teachings of the people who were originally instruments of the faith experience recorded in the scriptures further later it was considered a privilege to hold the scriptures and read or proclaim from it there was a moment in history in which the community of faith felt the need to assert that the scriptures originated from the community which was trying to record the foundational experiences for the community so that the community of faithful could find their ground in those experiences and that the scriptures should go back to the hands of the community and not remain merely in the hands of a select few this feeling and conviction gave rise to a movement in history towards making the bible the most important factor within the ambit of making sense of one s faith and its expressions in life and the concepts investigated in this study stemmed from two things first a pilot study where we found that the static electricity simulator results coupled with the cpu pedagogical structure provided facilitated the articulation and sharing of ideas in a small group of three students from this we hypothesized that the simulator tools played a role in knowledge construction and we wanted to find out more about what role it played second the past ten years of research in mathematics and science education has led to the recognition of the importance of the instructional setting collaboration and cognitive tools in the construction of knowledge a tradition has emerged where researchers have begun to look at the individual s knowledge construction through a different lens than the knowledge that emerges through group interactions from this type of research we can learn about the knowledge construction of the individual and the knowledge construction of the group we can understand how the interactions within the group have influenced the knowledge development of the individual however we cannot learn about how the individual influences the group parameters repeated interactions between individuals and tools can fundamentally change the social and material setting we need to look at how the social and material setting changes as a result of the individuals interaction with it and how this changing social setting influences the conceptual development of the individual investigating interdependent interaction between the individual and the social and material setting is the foundation for this work i believe that understanding learning requires more than understanding the individual and understanding the social environment of which he was a part understanding learning means understanding how the individual changes the social and material setting and how these changes influence the individual this dissertation is devoted to understanding individuals learning the factors that influenced it and further understanding how these factors were determined by the knowledge evolution of the individual
