many christians go on pilgrimage whether to jerusalem rome santiago or some other destination but few think hard about it from the perspective of their faith this book fills that gap looking at the biblical and theological elements in pilgrimage and asking how we could do pilgrimage differently exploring the current resurgence of pilgrimage from a christian viewpoint this book seeks to articulate a theology of pilgrimage for today examination of pilgrimage in the old and new testaments provides a grounding for thinking through pilgrimage theologically literary missiological and sociological perspectives are explored and the book concludes by examining how such a theology could change our practice of pilgrimage today raising such questions as how tourism to the holy land should reflect the situation in the region today pilgrims students and all interested in contemporary pilgrimage will find this accessible book a valuable articulation of the different elements in a christian theology of pilgrimage teaching and learning as a pedagogic pilgrimage is premised on an argument that if higher education is to remain responsive to a public good then teaching and learning must be in a perpetual state of reflection and change it argues in defence of teaching and learning as constitutive of a pedagogic pilgrimage and draws on a range of scholars and theories to explore concepts such as transcendental journeys belief hope and imagination the main objective of the book is to show how teaching and learning ought to be reconsidered in relation to that which lies beyond the parameters of the encounters as well as that which is intrinsic to the encounters this book gives shape to rituals and routines of engagement and debate before extending the limitations in deliberative pedagogic encounters to offer desirable outcomes in which both student and teacher can practice a spiritual take on teaching and learning along a continuum of ongoing action themes explored in the chapters include the following faith and deliberative encounters post human ethics of care in teaching and learning diffracted teaching and learning this book will be of great interest to academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of philosophy of education and teaching and learning in the philosophy of education it will also appeal to school and university educators policymakers and prospective teachers
