this is a definitive and comprehensive monograph on one of the 20th century's greatest architects geoffrey bawa whose influence has extended to garden and landscape design

this book explores how the concept of region has evolved over time and shaped architectural culture and practice it questions what the words region and regional mean for architecture cities and landscapes past and present and speculates on the forms they might take in the future region is explored in many thematic guises as a real geographical site of evolving socio economic activity as a mythical locus of enduring value as a gatekeeper of indigenous crafts and vernacular techniques as a site of architectural and artistic imagination as a repository of contested conflicted and mobile identities the contributing chapters take these themes from the theoretical and literary page through to architectural and urban practice and from the scale of the domestic hearth through to the ocean archipelago and international law enriching the long standing trope of viewing architectural regionalism purely as a matter of style curated into four key thematic areas theorised regions contested regions heritage regions and future regions the book incorporates the values concerns and approaches of a truly diverse international community of scholars curators and practitioners as well as the design work of international students tasked to explore what region means to them the role of the home the domestic sphere and the intimate ethno cultural identities that are cultivated within it are critical to understanding the polemical constructions of country and city tradition and modernity and regionalism and cosmopolitanism the home is fundamental to ideas of the homeland that give nationalism its imaginative form and its political trajectory this book explores positions that are vital to ideas of national belonging through the history of colonial bourgeois self fashioning and post colonial identity construction in sri lanka the country remains central to related architectural discourses due to its emergence as a critical site for regional architecture post independence suggesting patterns of indigenous accommodation and resistance that are expressed through built form the book argues that the nation grows as an extension of an indigenous private sphere ostensibly uncontaminated by colonial influences domesticating institutions and appropriating rural geographies in the pursuit of its hegemonic ideals this ambitious comprehensive wide ranging book presents an abundance of new and original material and many imaginative insights into the history of architecture and nationalism from the mid nineteenth century to the present day this book explores the relationships between nature and environment and the contested politics of nationhood in contemporary sri lanka describing 27 standards for sound evaluations of educational personnel at all levels this updated resource includes new and revised standards in depth explanations case studies and more the story of two talented landscape designer brothers and their exquisite gardens set in the lush landscape of sri lanka the work of architect geoffrey bawa achieved a unique fusion of vernacular style and modern construction incorporating the lush tropical landscape of his native sri lanka although his architectural work and its influence have been well documented less attention has been paid to his work on gardens his most famous garden is the one he created for himself at his estate lunuganga and it is rivaled by brief the lesser known garden of his brother bevis evolving over several decades these two gardens and their outbuildings and sculptures represent high points of tropical design in which architecture and landscape are intertwined bawa the sri lanka gardens is the story of two brothers and their exquisite gardens it begins with an overview of sri lanka s rich horticultural tradition and the cultural background that inspired the bawas sensitive treatment of architecture and then records the familial relationship between geoffrey and bevis bawa and their distinctive individual differences and inspirations david robson takes the reader on a tour around brief and lunuganga through rich photo essays and revealing descriptions while glorious images reveal the aesthetic considerations and architectural mastery of the gardens creators this book on 'new architecture and urbanism development of indian traditions' builds on the contributions from various architects planners educationists decision makers others from across the world who gathered together to create a forum for the promotion of traditional processes and techniques for the creation of the built environment this forum was initiated by intbau india the international network for traditional building architecture and urbanism in india and supported by the nabha foundation this book presents the arguments axioms and case studies related to traditional architecture and urbanism in a sequential format firstly it examines the 'new ways of looking at heritage' by separating it from pure history into a living and evolving process the book looks at what defines traditional methods and their relevance to the contemporary context it also examines the aspects of continuity and contextual frameworks in the built environment the section on 'sustainable buildings places and communities' explores the many facets of locally driven processes from the viewpoint of tradition and sustainability these include many community based planning methods and their applications in shaping the built environment aspects of environmental sustainability and on how appropriateness could be ingrained into current architectural education lastly the book delves into a number of executed examples in architecture seeking to learn from tradition and examples in 'place making urbanism' which in turn promotes humane walkable and connected neighbourhoods
