the use of god in any moral debate is so problematic as to be almost worthless we can argue whether this or that alleged claim emanated from god but surely it is better to leave god out of the argument altogether and find strong human reasons for supporting the systems that we advocate godless morality is a refreshing courageous and human centred justification for contemporary morality this book considers the theory and application of ethics for a multifaith society much ethics taught in the uk has been dominated by christian ethics their relation to secularism and by the enlightenment s reaction against theology as a basis for ethical thought in contrast to these perspectives this book brings secular and theological ethics into dialogue considering the degree to which secular ethics has common roots with theological perspectives from various traditions the book assesses the application of ethical and theological principles in today s multifaith society aiming to enhance ethical understanding and awareness across divergent worldviews identifying at what points divergence does occur the author examines topics such as reason and ethics in theology natural law utilitarianism and deontology and differences of approach to interpreting religious scriptures the focus on ethical methods is illustrated through topical concerns in religion and ethics for example sexuality marriage and education and religion in relation to global ethics and human rights originally published in 2003 western attitudes to crime were in the past rooted in concepts of sin and therefore of hopes for redemption and forgiveness so what happens to offenders and society as a whole in a world where people no longer talk of sin but of evil if hopes of redemption go too will revenge take the place of forgiveness kay carmichael explores these dilemmas in this topical and provocative book she traces the stories of myra hindley mary bell sarah payne james bulger and his killers comparing public responses to such crimes in various western countries art and literature are examined for the light they throw on the evolution of our ideas about sin and forgiveness from rembrandt to nathaniel hawthorne samuel becket dali and writings inspired by the holocaust turning to our own day carmichael discusses the emergence of structural sins or iniquities in which we may all find ourselves involved poverty slavery violence and war are her themes her analysis leaves her sceptical about many contemporary appeals for forgiveness but hopeful about ideas of restorative justice great biblical truths are meant not only for our intellectual acceptance but for our spiritual health. Dr. Al Mohler, more faulty information about God swirls around us today than ever before. No wonder so many followers of Christ are unsure of what they really believe in the face of the new spiritual openness attempting to alter unchanging truth. For centuries the church has taught and guarded the core Christian beliefs that make up the essential foundations of the faith. But in our postmodern age, sloppy teaching and outright lies create rampant confusion, and many Christians are free-falling. For feel-good theology, we need to know the truth to save ourselves from errors that will derail our faith. As biblical scholar, author, and president of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Dr. Albert Mohler writes, the entire structure of Christian truth is now under attack. With wit and wisdom, he tackles the most important aspects of these modern issues. Is God changing his mind about sin? Why is hell off-limits for many pastors? What's good or bad about the dangerous emergent movement? Have Christians stopped seeing God as God? Is the social justice movement misguided? Could the role of beauty be critical to our theology? Is liberal faith any less destructive than atheism? Are churches pandering to their members to survive in the age-old battle to preserve the foundations of faith? It's up to a new generation to confront and disarm the contemporary shams and fight for the truth. Dr. Mohler provides the scriptural answers to show you how.

Spirituality like morality has historically been tied to religion, and yet it is possible for one to exist without the other. In this meditative and highly personal account, Richard Holloway considers the nature of the spiritual and what it means to live with the inevitability of death, both celebration of the possibilities that life affords and an examination of how doubts and fears too often paralyse, especially as we age. Looking in the distance is an inspiration told with the compassion and good humour characteristic of its author.

Being human isn't easy. We might think that consciousness and free will give us control over our lives, but our minds are unpredictable places. We are susceptible to forces we don't understand. We are capable of inflicting immense cruelty on one another, and yet we also have the capacity to be tender, to empathise, to feel. In his thought-provoking new book, Richard Holloway holds a mirror up to the human condition by drawing on a colourful and eclectic selection of writings from history.

the genesis of ethics soundly addresses the controversial concept of god's authority and reframes the concept as separate from authoritarianism esther d reed views ethics as the practical expression of divine human reciprocity not as an isolated part of christian life god's authority is not of a controlling or hegemonic kind but of the dialogic answerable kind which draws human persons into relationship writes reed reed proclaims that god's word calls us to life and the way we answer with our lives is the embodiment of christian ethics and moral theology the book presents and expounds upon a critical question how is the church to exercise authority in ways that promote the growth of personal freedom in christ while preventing its teaching authority from becoming authoritarian what is the future of the christian tradition as it confronts the challenges and opportunities of the global age that question addressed by authors from around the globe leads in turn to more questions what elements of a traditional christian faith can be carried forward in an authentic contemporary faith the bible as sacred scripture life after death sin and guilt reward and punishment how do we make an earth centered vision the heart of a faith for the second axial age and many more contributors include john shelby spong episcopal bishop emeritus of newark new jersey robert w funk founder of the jesus seminar eugenie scott director of the center for science education richard holloway bishop of edinburgh primus of the scottish episcopal church retired lloyd geering emeritus professor of victoria university of wellington new zealand don cupitt former dean of emmanuel college cambridge england anne primavesi fellow of the centre for the interdisciplinary study of religion birkbeck college university of london and fellows of the jesus seminar jack hill connects the dots between what jesus said long ago and what we experience now in a radically new way by linking the voice of jesus to unheard voices of contemporary largely marginalised social and political movements weaving the tapestry of moral judgement is a new and challenging introduction to the subject of christian ethics the author invites readers to look at what informs the moral and ethical choices and decisions we make and what kind of people we seek to be
