scholars have long seen trust as a foundational social good we therefore have ample studies on building trust in free markets on cultivating trust in the state and on rebuilding trust through civil society the contributors to this volume instead take a step back they ask can mistrust ever be more than the flip side of trust more than the sign of an absence or failure by looking ethnographically at what a variety of actors actually do when they express mistrust this volume offers a richly empirical trove of the social life of mistrust across a range of settings popular culture and entertainment media create an environment that has an enormous influence on all of us we are constantly bombarded with messages that affect how we think consciously and unconsciously about ourselves others and the wider world this environment has far more power to educate or miseducate than all adult education programs combined simply because virtually everyone is immersed in it scholars and practitioners have paid relatively little attention to the role of popular culture in the field of adult education even though many educators of adults use it in their work to teach critical media literacy to discuss diversity and equity issues and to explore many aspects of adult development and learning in this volume several practitioners illustrate and explain the ways in which they use popular culture in various adult education settings this is the 113th volume of the jossey bass quarterly report new directions for adult and continuing education
