wall street journal bestseller have you ever struggled to feel worthy at work do you know or lead people who do when amelia dunlop first heard the phrase elevating the human experience in a leadership team meeting with her boss she thought he is crazy if he thinks we will ever say those words out loud to each other much less to a potential client we've been conditioned to separate our personal and professional selves but work is fundamental to our human experience love and worth have a place in work because our humanity and authentic identities make our work better the acknowledgement of our intrinsic worth as human beings and the nurturing of our own or another's growth through love ultimately contribute to higher performance and organizational growth now as the chief experience officer at deloitte digital a leading experience consultancy amelia dunlop knows we must embrace elevating the human experience for the advancement and success of ourselves and our organizations this book integrates the findings of a quantitative study to better understand feelings of love and worth in the workplace and introduces three paths that allow individuals to create the professional experience they desire for themselves their teams and their clients the first path explores the path of the self an inward path where we learn to love ourselves when we show up for work and examines the obstacles that hinder us the second path centers around learning to love and recognize the worth of another in our lives adding to the worth we feel and providing a source of meaning to our lives the third path considers the community of work and learning to love and recognize the worth of those we meet every day at work especially for those who may be systematically marginalized unseen or unrepresented drawing on her own personal journey to find love and worth at work in her twenty year career as a management consultant amelia also weaves together insights from philosophers theologians and sociologists with the stories of people from diverse backgrounds gathered during her research elevating the human experience three paths to love and worth at work is for anyone who has felt the struggle to feel worthy at work as well as for those who have no idea what it may feel like to struggle every day just to feel loved and worthy but love people and lead people who do it's a practical approach to elevating the human experience that will lead to important conversations about values and purpose and ultimately meaningful change this study ponders different ways christian thinkers understood humanity in its relationship to divine grace it names fallacies that have in the past skewed theological understanding of that relationship it argues that the philosophy of charles sanders peirce avoided those same fallacies and provides a novel frame of reference for rethinking the theology of grace the author shows how the insights of other american philosophers flesh out undeveloped aspects of peirce's thought he formulates a metaphysics of experience derived from his philosophical analysis finally he develops an understanding of supernatural grace as the transmutation and transvaluation of human experience
