using the 180 year history of Keats's La Belle Dame sans Merci as a basis for theorizing about the reading process. Stillinger's book explores the nature and whereabouts of meaning in complex works. A proponent of authorial intent, Stillinger argues a theoretical compromise between author and reader, applying a theory of interpretive democracy that includes the endlessly multifarious reader's response as well as Keats's guessed-at intent. Stillinger also considers the process of constructing meaning and posits an answer to why Keats's work is considered canonical and why it is still being read and admired.

This accessible text brings together research on word reading and comprehension development which are often treated separately and provides a comprehensive and detailed introductory text to reading development and difficulties. Key features include an introduction to the important issues in reading research and the skills involved in reading words and understanding text from the point of view of both a beginner and a skilled reader; a consideration of the similarities and differences between written and spoken language and the advantages and disadvantages of different methodological approaches; an examination of how failures in reading comprehension skills can create difficulties and disorders; a consideration of the implications of this research for the teaching of reading and the diagnosis and treatment of reading difficulties. This text will be useful to many different groups of readers, not only researchers and students in psychology but also those who work in more applied settings such as students in education and speech and language therapy who may have a limited background knowledge of the psychology of reading.

An up close and personal look behind the scenes of the government's psychic spy program as only an insider can. A must read, Harold E. Puthoff, PhD, founder and former director of the CIA's initiated remote viewing program from behind the cloak of US military secrecy. Comes the story of Star Gate, the project that for nearly a quarter of a century trained soldiers and civilian spies in extra sensory perception (ESP) their objective to search out the secrets of America's cold war enemies using a skill called remote viewing.

paul h smith a us army major was one of these viewers with the star gate secrets declassified and the program mothballed by the central intelligence agency the story can now be told of the ordinary soldiers drafted onto the battlefield of human consciousness using hundreds of interviews with the key players in the star gate program and gathering thousands of pages of documents smith reveals many secrets about how remote viewing works and how it was used against enemy targets among these stories are the search for hostages in lebanon spying on soviet directed energy weapons investigating the bombing of pan am flight 103 over lockbie scotland tracking foreign testing of weapons of mass destruction combating narco trafficking off america s coasts aiding in the iranian hostage situation finding kgb moles in the cia pursuing middle east terrorists and more this is a story for the believer and the skeptic a rare look at the innards of a top secret program and an eye opening treatise on the power of the human mind to transcend the limitations of space and time
